URW Asks 25-Cent Pay Boost

$100 Monthly Pensions Sought

The United Rubber Workers Union (CIO) announced today it will seek a fourth-round 25-cent hourly wage boost and company-financed pensions of $100 a month for its 180,000 members in contract negotiations beginning this year.

The program was adopted by the union's 164-man international policy committee and formally approved by the 20-member executive board at a two-day meeting in Cleveland.

There are approximately 1,800 members of the union in Mansfield. Norman Yarger, treasurer of Local 17, URWA-CIO at the Mansfield Tire, said both the wage issue and the pension plan would be negotiated with the company this spring. The two-year contract with the company expires on May 1.

Yarger added that a special meeting of the union membership will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at the union headquarters to take action on the proposed contract to be presented to the company.

An international union spokesman said the union would be able to press its wage demands, but not the pension program, in negotiations this year with three of the big four rubber companies —Goodyear, Firestone and U. S. Rubber. He said the union's present contracts with the three concerns expire in 1950 but provide that the wage question may be reopened this spring.

The rubber workers' contract with the Goodrich Tire & Rubber company expires next August.

As presented by the policy committee, the program emphasizes the 25-cent hourly wage increase as the primary objective, with the $100-a-month pensions as a secondary goal. The pension figure would be in addition to social security benefits.

Mardi Gras Guest Slain

NEW ORLEANS — (INS) — New Orleans police today fine-combed the city's gay Mardi Gras throngs in search of the brutal killer of James A. Mahoney, Virginia multi-millionaire and philanthropist.

The police admitted they had no clues to the murderer who, apparently, calmly washed blood from his hands after he had beaten and strangled Mahoney with such force that he broke his victim's neck.

The authorities are trying to trace the last movements of Mahoney, whose nude body was left in a blood-soaked bed in a Vieux Carre (French quarter) hotel room.

A bell boy discovered it there yesterday morning, when most of New Orleans was awakening from a riotous first night of the city's annual Mardi Gras festival.

Crown Cherry Pie Champion

CHICAGO — (INS) — America's 1949 champion baker of cherry pies will leave Chicago for Washington today to bake a pie for President Truman.

She is stocky, brown-eyed Betty Latimer, of Fredonia, N. Y., an 18-year-old high school senior.

Betty out-sifted 14 other teenagers in the 17th annual National Hatchet club cherry pie baking contest yesterday.

She squealed with delight when she learned she had won first place, $150 in cash and a week's trip to the capital.

JAIL CELL BIRTH

PADUCAH, Ky., — (UP) — Margie Downing, whose two-year-old son died after a brutal beating early this month, gave birth unattended to an eight-pound boy in her jail cell yesterday.

Churchman Blasts Truman's 'S.O.B.' Remark at Dinner

(Compiled From Wire Services)

NEW YORK—The president of the International Council of Christian Churches said today President Truman's language at a dinner in Washington last night was "an offense against Christian people."

The Rev. Carl McIntyre, president of the council, called on the President to "apologize to the American people" in a telegram sent to the White House.

The President was quoted as saying at a dinner honoring his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, that "if any S.O.B. thinks he is going to get any member of my staff or cabinet changed by some smart-aleck statement over the air, he's mistaken."

McIntyre said in part in his telegram to Mr. Truman:

"The language you used last night at the dinner to honor Maj. Vaughan is an offense to Christian people, degrading to our youth and humiliating before the nations of the world."

Mr. Truman used the initials "S. O. B."

Later, the White House issued a transcript of the President's remarks in which the word "anyone" was substituted for "any S. O. B."

PEARSON

Pearson immediately replied that "if Mr. Truman is trying to discourage the right of fair comment, then he also has another think coming."

"The men he has on his staff are his business—even though the taxpayers have to foot the bill," said Pearson, "But when his staff members accept medals from a military dictator, whose principles our government has denounced, then it's the public's business—and should be Truman's."

He referred to Vaughan's recent acceptance of a decoration from the Argentine government.

Pearson had said previously:

"While we spend billions abroad to help democracy and while President Truman has spoken thousands of words about saving democracy, his military aide partly nullifies this talk—and money—by accepting a high decoration from a military dictator who has ridiculed all the things Truman talks about."

Pearson also has been critical of two members of Mr. Truman's cabinet — Defense Secretary James Forrestal and Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder.

Mr. Truman did not mention Pearson by name, but his reference was obvious to guests at the dinner. Earlier speakers had praised Vaughan and had referred to the criticism by the

Death In Two Minutes

Believes Reds Have Liquid Death Spray

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif.—(AP)—Russia quite possibly has the secret of a nazi-developed liquid death spray potent enough to wipe out whole divisions of men in the open, says an American officer who helped destroy the weapon.

But Germany didn't use the spray, and Russia probably wouldn't for the same reason—it contaminates the area for too long a period—in the opinion of Maj. James M. Graham, a U. S. Army engineer.

The two German scientists who formulated the spray were in Berlin when the Russians took over and more than likely were taken in hand by the Soviets, Graham says.

Whether chemical analysis of the liquid by its American captors yielded the secret, Graham didn't know.

Graham had charge of disposing of the spray, named Tabun after the names of its two inventors. He disclosed some of the details in a chamber of commerce speech at San Jose. Graham now lives in Mountain View.

Hidden stocks of Tabun—125,000 tons of it—were found by American intelligence officers in Bavarian caves. Engineers built huge fires in pits to destroy the liquid. They poured it over the coals. Tabun didn't burn, but the heat broke it down and rendered it harmless.

Graham described Tabun as a nerve poison not unlike snake venom in its effect. Only quicker. A spot of it the size of a dime dropped on the skin would kill a man in two minutes unless wiped off quickly. It would penetrate most clothing, even some gas masks.

Tabun has such a faint odor it can hardly be detected. The experienced nose can detect a slight fruity smell. In appearance it looks something like crankcase oil.

The liquid was a military secret until about six months ago when some information about it leaked out. About 1,000 tons of it was saved from destruction and shipped to Aberdeen, Md., under the label of "chlorine," Graham reported. But dock workers failed to smell chlorine in the shipment and refused to handle it. Special crews had to be used for the job.

U. S. Pilot Killed

FRANKFURT—(INS)—U.S. Air Force officers today investigated the aerial explosion of a jet fighter plane which killed the pilot.

The F-80 "Shooting Star" exploded last night while on a training flight in western Germany.

The pilot's name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Anna Strong U. S.-Bound

Dr. Anna Louise Strong, American journalist and former Mansfielder, deported from Russia on spy charges, was reported en route to the U.S. today aboard a Trans-World Airlines plane. The plane is scheduled to land at LaGuardia field in New York early Thursday morning.

Dr. Strong, 63, who was deported from Russia Monday as an "American spy," left Paris last night by train, according to Polish reports.

The noted American authoress and lecturer is reportedly an acquaintance and schoolmate of Richland county Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield.

Dr. Strong's name was on the passenger list of TWA flight No. 907 which left Paris last night for New York by way of Shannon, Eire, and Gander, Nfld.

(In New York, TWA officials said that an "Anna Strong" is listed as a passenger on the Paris-New York flight, but the airline did not know definitely whether she was the famed deportee.)

Dr. Strong's arrival in Paris did not become known until many hours after the plane had departed.

Strife Hits Zinc Plant

Four Held After Latest Outbreak

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Two CIO smelter workers and two armed American Zinz Oxide company employes will face charges today in Columbus municipal court for fighting at the plant's gates last night.

Vincent Keegan, 34-year-old East Orange, N. J., International union representative, and Claude Smith, 48, of Columbus, were released under $25 bond last night, charged with assault and battery by Albert Bell, 24-year-old plant employe.

Bell and Burton Skelton, 21, were charged by police who disarmed them, with carrying guns and are under $500 bail each.

The employes said they were accosted by the union men late yesterday as they left the plant. They said Keegan and Smith and a third man called them "scabs."

They said the three attacked them and two companions.

Four sheriff's deputies dispatched to the scene broke up the brawl.

The plant has been the scene of numerous disorders between members of the CIO mine, mill and smelter workers and non-striking employes, since a strike began last August.

Thief Makes Way With Ferryboat

MANCHESTER — (AP) — Somebody stole the Manchester ferry, the village's lone contact with Kentucky across the Ohio river, police were told today.

The gasoline launch which powers the ferry was found tied up to the Ohio shore eight miles downstream in the vicinity of Aberdeen.

The ferry consists of the launch and a barge lashed to it. The barge has the capacity to carry three automobiles.

Clergymen Argue Question

Early Approval Seen For Ohio FEPC Act

COLUMBUS—(AP)—House Labor committee approval of an Ohio FEPC law is looked for today by Chairman Ed Witmer (D-Stark).

Final public hearings were completed yesterday and Witmer called a committee session for action on the controversial proposal.

The law would make it illegal to fire or refuse to hire workers because of race, color, creed, national origin or ancestry.

A Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) would hear complaints of discrimination. It would ask the courts to enforce its orders and penalties for violations.

Two clergymen with opposing views featured morning and afternoon hearings. Two previous hearings before large audiences brought out about 30 witnesses for and against the plan.

Spokesmen for churches and minority groups favored the bill as a step towards creating equal employment opportunity for all. Business leaders opposed it on grounds it would create friction in factories and stores.

Committee approval of the measure probably would bring it a House vote next week.

Dr. D. R. Sharpe, executive secretary of the Cleveland Baptist association, urged approval. He said two of every five employer requests filed with the state for workers contained restrictions that were discriminatory.

He denied opponents' claims it would create tension and conflict between races. The law is needed, he said, because education is not sufficiently persuasive. He urged penalties of fine and imprisonment for violators.

Exemption for religious organizations should be retained by the law because they are not in the business of production," Dr. Sharpe added.

Committee member John J. Farley (R.-Hamilton) has asked him why such groups should be exempt while others would be banned from discrimination.

The Rev. William E. Ashbrook, of Columbus, representing the American Council of Christian Churches, opposed the proposal.

Landslides Plague West

(By United Press)

Dangerous landslides and flash floods struck along mountain slopes of the Pacific northwest today and authorities set up a 24-hour alert for possible floods along the ice-jammed Missouri river on the Great Plains.

Avalanches in scattered sections of Oregon and Washington were set off by heavy rains that totaled more than two inches in some areas. The rain was tapering off today.

A landslide near Edmund, Wash., shoved one car of a Great Northern railroad passenger train off the tracks. No passengers were aboard but a dining car waiter was injured slightly. The car remained upright but mud poured through the broken windows. The slide closed the railroad's line between Seattle and Vancouver, B. C.

Rural roads in western Washington were blocked by numerous slides that pushed houses and garages off their foundations in scattered areas.

Fall Proves Fatal

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Dr. Katherine A. Astler, 85, mother of two doctor sons, died last night at Bethesda hospital where she was admitted Monday after a fall at her home.

Warm Weather Makes Posies Ambitious

Flowers Believed Safe From Cold

Flowers, that are beginning to show above the ground are in no danger of being killed by the cold, if a belated frigid wave hits the Mansfield area, garden authorities believe.

Many spring flowers, including daffodils, crocuses, peonies, irises, and tulips, are sending up tender shoots well ahead of the season when they should be getting ambitious.

The warm winter and frequent showers have encouraged the bulbs and roots to pre-season growth.

Among the Mansfield flower growers who see no danger ahead for the flowers is Mrs. Henry Paulsen, 524 Beechwood drive.

"I can't find a single flower that would be hurt," Mrs. Paulsen said.

She grows many varieties of flowers at her home and at the family cottage at Walton lake.

She cautioned, however, that the leaves on spring bulbs should not be cut even if the blossom freezes. The reason for that is that the leaves will help produce the blossoms the following year, she said.

"There's nothing to worry about because the bulbs are very hardy," she asserted.

It was pointed out that zero or sub-zero temperatures probably won't return unless the ground is covered with snow. The snow then will form a protective blanket for flowers and tender plants.

More rain and moderate temperatures are in prospect for tomorrow in the Mansfield area. The low temperature in Mansfield today was 30.

Truman Vacation Slated for March

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The White House announced today that President Truman will go to Florida for a rest early next month.

The president plans to spend 13 days at the U. S. submarine base at Key West. Mr. Truman will leave Washington Sunday, March 6, and fly to Key West, returning to the nation's capital March 19.

UEW Strikers Picketed At Conference

TIFFIN —(UNS)— A General Electric company strike in Tiffin was given the feminine twist today.

A group of 36 employes, 32 of them women, were reported to have picketed a meeting of the local U.E-CIO while the plant was being picketed by union strikers.

The chief grievance aired by the demonstrators was the union's refusal to submit the strike to a secret vote.

New Pact Conference Scheduled

Alliance Enters Final Planning

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson and envoys of six other western powers will hold an important conference tomorrow about the proposed North Atlantic Security pact, diplomatic sources said today.

The conferees will include diplomatic representatives of Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands—the nations now working with the United States on the mutual defense treaty.

Diplomatic observers here attacked special significance to the session since it will be the first chance Acheson has had to get the reaction of the six foreign governments to the Senate's attitude on the pact. Acheson met informally with the envoys last Saturday after his talk with the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Up for consideration too will be the question of inviting Norway to join the final treaty negotiations. An invitation will be issued promptly after the Norwegian parliament formally agrees to enter the historic discussions.

As treaty negotiations entered their final phase, negotiators cautioned against forecasting that a draft would be made public this week.

They said other meetings probably will be held with the treaty powers and the Senate Foreign Relations committee before the terms are released.

The game is scheduled for the Senior high gym March 16 with all of the proceeds going into the Friendly House gymnasium fund. The Browns basketball team is made up of members of the All-American conference championship pro football club.

Tickets are $2 for reserved seats and $1 for general admission.

Steel Home Plans Aided

One barrier to the construction of the all-steel Lustron home on Sunset boulevard was eliminated at last night's city-county health board meeting. The plumbing code was amended to permit use of copper piping.

Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, said the plumbing code failed to mention use of copper plumbing for waste and vent disposal.

However the house will not be approved for electrical wiring. Fire Chief L. J. Steele said today. Steele explained the type of wiring used in the house is contrary to the electrical code.

He said last week despite the steel construction the danger of electrical shock still is present if the wiring is faulty.

CONCLUDE HEARINGS

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Senate Labor committee concludes hearing on a new labor law today with Democrats hoping to send a Taft-Hartley repeal bill to the Senate within a week.

Palestine Strife Ended

Peace Awaits Formal Signing

RHODES — (UP) — Israel and Egypt will sign tomorrow an armistice formally halting their hostilities in Palestine, United Nations officials announced today. The agreement may lead to a settlement of the long strife in the Holy Land.

An announcement confirming the success of Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting UN mediator, in directing negotiations which produced an Israeli-Egyptian agreement, said the document would be signed at 10:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. EST.)

The text of the armistice, a compromise proposal submitted by Dr. Bunche to the Israeli and Egyptian delegations, will be made public 30 minutes after the formal signing ceremony in the presence of Dr. Bunche.

TWELVE CHAPTERS

The 5,000-word armistice agreement comprised 12 chapters and three annexes. The chapters deal with military agreements for demilitarization and withdrawal of forces in the various areas of south Palestine, where Israeli-Egyptian fighting flared sporadically from the expiration of the British mandate last May until early this year.

The annexes consisted of definitions of various terms, and of an exchange of letters understood to relate to an exchange of war prisoners.

The armistice was the most encouraging development in Palestinian affairs since violence erupted when the UN assembly approved a partition plan on Nov. 29, 1947.

High hopes for an agreement had persisted here for several days since Dr. Bunche handed his compromise proposal to the delegates. Israeli agreed to the terms conditional on Egypt accepting.

An Egyptian delegation, which carried the proposal to Cairo and heard the government's reaction to it, returned today. A source within the ranks of the delegation gave the first word the Egypt had agreed.

The agreement came after a month and 10 days of negotiations. It was a major victory for Dr. Bunche and the UN.

File Charge In Slaying

A Mansfield reformatory parolee was charged with first degree murder today by Columbus police for the brutal knife slaying of Esther Seibert Mason, 28, last Saturday in the Waldo hotel.

The parolee, also reportedly an escapee from a state epileptic hospital, is 39-year-old Claude A. Ramsey. Police said they were also questioning Ramsey as the possible slayer of Mona McBride, whose slashed body was found last March 31 in a room at a hotel next to the scene of the Mason murder.

Ramsey was received Feb. 20, 1939 at the reformatory, according to OSR officials. He was sentenced to 10 to 25 year term for robbery in Franklin county. Ramsey was paroled on April 1, 1942 and declared a parole violator on Feb. 2, 1948.

Ramsey admitted to detectives yesterday that he "probably" murdered Miss Mason early Saturday when his "mind went blank." The woman's body, stabbed 12 times, was found in a room at the Waldo hotel by a bellhop.

POW Chief Given 8 Years

TOKYO — (UP) — Former Japanese Lt. Gen. Hioshi Tamura was sentenced to eight years at hard labor today by an allied war crimes commission for mistreatment and torture of allied war prisoners.

Tamura was chief of the POW Information bureau and chief of the POW Management bureau from December, 1944, until the end of the war. His crimes were recorded during that period.

Tamura was acquitted of charges that he ordered mistreatment and torture of allied prisoners. But the court convicted him for permitting atrocities and not administering POW centers properly.

Ontario and Lexington Win County Openers

Today's Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (UP) — It may be another 12 years before the grunters and groaners again invade Madison Square Garden; for last night's "muscle comedy" that featured Gorgeous George wrestling's top attraction, drew only 4,197 fans and $13,957.

Blond George, a marcelled and perfumed grappler from Hollywood, threw Ernie Dusek of Omaha after 26 minutes and 57 seconds of horrific histrionics. And the show reportedly threw Promoter Bill Johnston for a $1,500 loss.

Despite the mat boom stimulated by television at small clubs in the metropolitan area, New York fans apparently were not enthusiastic enough about the sport to pay as high as $7.50 for ringside seats. Not even to see the first appearance of the pachyderms at the Garden in a dozen years. Not even to see the sissified and atomized George.

A rainy night did not help the gate.

Gorgeous George soon will go into the movies, and they deserve him. He should have been accompanied into the ring last night by a chef instead of a valet; his "smellodrama" reeked of ham.

And the ringside reeked of perfumed disinfectant sprayed over the mat by Valet Jackson Hunt, a small, shy, bald-headed, mustached guy in formal evening clothes.

As the organ played "Pomp and Circumstance," George came marching down the aisle. He looked like a cross between a story-book prince and a disdainful Park avenue dowager.

Over his blond tresses was a blondish hair-net that glistened with imitation emeralds and his dressing robe was simply out of this world, my deah. It was of shiny, white satin, covered with a petticoat of brocaded lace. And the lace was fringed with roses and forget-me-nots. And over his manly shoulders was a magnificent white satin cape.

★

When George finally stripped off and was left standing practically naked in wee, tight-fitting, baby-green trunks, he appeared slightly flabby and of uncertain age.

Most sports writers did not know exactly what holds were used by the respective gladiators during their tableau, for it was the first wrestling they had covered in years.

★

An old guy with cauliflowered ears, who somehow had wedged into a press seat, explained that George finally stunned Dusek with four "flying headlocks" and then pinned his shoulders to the canvas. Could be. Anyway Referee Joe Gordon patted George on his powdered back to signal victory.

And the fans booed as lustily as a sprinkling of 4,197 could boo in the large muscle emporium.

Pair of Contests Scheduled Tonight

By CHARLEY STINE

Ontario and Lexington advanced as expected in the Richland county tournament last night but not until tourney jitters and a couple of never-say-die underdogs made a pair of close games out of expected runaways.

Ontario crept past Union, 28-17, and Lexington outlasted Shiloh as the two teams moved into semi-final play. They will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Expected to produce much better basketball than last night's affair are the two games set for Senior high gym tonight. Tourney favorite Bellville faces the supreme test in Butler at 7:30 and Lucas goes against Plymouth in the second game.

FEATURES ALLEN

The first game will be a battle between Bellville's smoothly synchronized passing attack and the sharpshooting of Butler's sensational Bill Allen. Allen enters the tournament as the hottest thing in the county, having racked up 27 points in each of his last two ball games.

The five-foot seven junior, a letterman from last year, became eligible only the second semester and has averaged 20 points a game since that time.

The second game pits two of the top scorers in the county against one another. Plymouth's Desmond Donnenwirth totaled the most points, 206, while Jack Stephenson of Lucas had the best average among the regulars with 15.5.

ALL ARE NERVOUS

The old equalizer — nerves — and two fighting second division teams combined to give Lexington and Ontario the scare of their lives in last night's tournament opener.

Ontario, particularly, was off its game and would have been beaten had Union been able to hit as much as 20 per cent of its shots. Union decidedly outplayed the Warriors in the first half but could not get the lid off the bucket.

Ontario led by the meager score of 4-2 at the end of the first quarter, all the points having been made in their first two minutes of play. Union tallied first on a one-hander from foul-line distance by Dave Walker and then Howard Sunnucks and Center Charlie Hammer dumped in shorties for the Warriors.

CONTROLS THE BALL

Union controlled the ball most of the first half as its defense held Ontario at bay. The Warriors were extremely tight in their reactions and time after time let easy passes slip through their hands to go out of bounds.

Ontario finally broke loose after three minutes were gone in the second half and pumped in a trio of baskets within a minute. It outscored Union 12-2 in the third period and built its lead to 21-7.

Still the red-and-black clad men of Coach Bill Pedigo refused to give up and went on to outscore the Warriors 12-10 in the last period. They controlled the ball practically the entire quarter.

Though the final score would indicate otherwise the Lexington-Shiloh game was the closer of the two. Shiloh showed up with a much better team than expected and pushed the minutemen all the way.

KEEPS CLOSE

The Drummer Boys never led, but trailed by only 8-6 at the end of the first quarter and 12-7 at the half. They fell 12 points behind in the third quarter but set the estimated 1100 fans wild when they pulled within six points of the Minutemen at 26-20 with six minutes left to play.

Marshall Clabaugh, Shiloh center, was the spearhead of the drive as he connected for three buckets in the first two minutes of the final quarter. The first of the shots was a "hooker" from the left of the basket, the second a rebound and the third a looping long one-hander.

At this point the game began to get rough and the next four minutes were taken up by successive jump balls with neither team scoring a goal. Lexington did run its count up with a trio of converted free throws.

After the automatic time out, the Minutemen finally got their attack to function and scored five more points in the final two minutes. Lexington made the last eight points of the game.

Tourney Ends In Galion Gym

GALION — The southern half of the Northern Ohio league junior high basketball tournament will be completed at the Galion junior high tonight when Galion and Upper Sandusky teams meet. The winner will play in the league championship finals at Bellevue.

Galion and Upper Sandusky teams advanced to the southern half finals in games played here Monday night. Galion won from Crestline junior high, 45 to 4, while Upper Sandusky won its game from Bucyrus, 24 to 23.

LINE UP EARLY—Despite the fact that seats were available throughout the evening, well over 150 persons were lined up outside Senior high school gym as early as 5:30 p. m. yesterday. First game did not start until 7:30. Most were followers of the Richland county schools which opened tournament play with two games.—(News-Journal staff photo)

Friendly House Boxers Win Five Bouts At Galion

GALION—Boxers from the Friendly House stable in Mansfield won five of nine bouts on the Galion Veterans of Foreign Wars program here last night.

The most surprising performance in the nine bouts was turned in by Billy Eccles. The former Senior high footballer and ring champion had shed some 30 odd pounds in the past year and his boxing ability also hit a new low. However, last night Eccles flashed some of his former ability to decision tough Charles Farina of Galion in the top bout on the card.

WEAVER WINS

Other Friendly House victories were turned in by Lofton Fuqua, Ralph Grier, Tom Weaver and Ulysses Calloway. Weaver kayoed Sal Madrano, Galion, in 1:32 of the third round while Calloway also was credited with a third round knockout of Roy Smith.

Fuqua decisioned Billy LaRue of Galion and Grier won over Howard Kocheiser of Galion.

Bill Eberhardt, plucky F-H lightweight, was a victim of a TKO at the hands of Carroll Combs, Marion, in the first round. A nasty gash opened up on Bill's head forcing the end of the fight.

Bill Jack, Galion middleweight, scared a clean knockout over Ken Schneider, F-H, in 1:55 of the first round while Galion's Howard Dixon decisioned James Middlebrook, F-H. Gene Ayers, F-H, lost to Dick James, Marion.

The third show of the season at the Friendly House is scheduled next Monday. Fighters from Cleveland, Marion, Ashland, Galion and Mansfield will compete.

Blackjack Fox Battles Police For 2nd Loss

CLEVELAND — (AP) — For a four-minute round with the referee, his handlers and several policemen, Blackjack Billy Fox, Philadelphia middleweight, was under a 30-day suspension today.

The fun for a crowd of 9,194 customers who paid $33,164 at the arena last night came after Fox lost the first bout of the program to Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., on a technical knockout.

Fox was on the floor when referee Don Gonzales lifted Wagner's hand after 48 seconds of the ninth round in the scheduled 10-rounder. Fox raised himself to his wobbly legs and made for Wagner and the referee while the cops started climbing into the ring.

Fox was floored four times in the hard-hitting scrap and held an advantage in only the third round. He weighed 173 to Wagner's 171.

There were three other 10-rounders on the card. Cleveland's Chuck Hunter, 170, outpointed Artie Levine, 165, of Brooklyn; Jean Walzack, 148, of France decisioned Jimmy Sanders, 149, Warren, O.; and Reuben Jones, 165, Norfolk, Va., won by a technical knockout over Irish Mickey Boyle, 162, Cleveland, at 55 seconds of the eighth round.

Barons Will Try

(By International News Service)

The Pittsburgh Hornets had second place in the American Hockey league's western division all to themselves today, but the Cleveland Barons will try to close the two point gap with a victory over Springfield in Cleveland tonight.

9 Are Named To Young Club

A squad of nine "young" oldtimers was named today to oppose the "old" old-timers in a basketball game tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at John Simpson junior high.

The oldster basketball game will serve as a preliminary to the city Class B championship contest between Mitsch's Corner store and Westinghouse.

Jim LeMunyon is managing the "young" team and is still looking for players to throw against Coach Bill Daugherty's 30-man "old" squad. However, Daugherty's club averages about 10 more years per man.

LeMunyon will serve as a player-coach. Others on his squad are: Joe Atton, Charley Saprano, Dave Shelley, Clarence Herrick, Earl Herrick, Stan Kamen, Fred Lewis and Bill Herpich.

Kegling Old Pros Take Second Spot

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. —(UP) — Ned Day and Buddy Bomar, two "Old Pros" from Chicago, today held second place in the doubles division of the annual American bowling congress tournament.

The windy city veterans amassed a 1,266 total in the event yesterday, but it was 40 pins behind the present leaders, Charley Carnegie and Ed Montgomery of Philadelphia.

High School Cagers Now Playing for Keeps

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's high school basketball season has hit the spot where they throw away the records and start playing for keeps.

It's tournament time, and the "win or get out" series offers a new challenge. Some 1170 teams —about 900 in Class B and the rest in Class A—are involved.

Some of the Class B clubs have been batted out in county tournaments but the survivors will swing on into sectional-district play. The Class A boys don't play county events, but go right into the sectional showdowns.

With the preliminaries out of the way, coaches of the not-too-impressive teams are pointing at previous winners as they explain "we've got a chance." Only two years ago Middletown hit the state tourney finals with six losses on its record, but the mighty middies waltzed off with the Class A crown.

And back in 1936 Newark's Wildcats, after having won about five games in an 18-game slate, were unbeatable when the chips went down.

Over the years since the big tourney was started in 1909 at Delaware, the overall championship laurels go to southwestern Ohio. If you split the state into four parts with north-south and east-west lines through Columbus, the southwestern sector has all the better of it in titles, if not in the number of schools and the amount of territory.

The southwestern area has copped 18 Class A titles to 10 for the northeast, seven for the southeast, and five for the northwest. In Class B which started play in 1923, the northwest has won eight titles, the southwest and southeast six each. The northeast also has won six, if you put Delaware in that sector along with Upper Arlington, northwest Columbus suburb.

Of the 40 Class A championships decided, Dayton has a strangle-hold on more than its share. Stivers of the Gem city has won eight, and Steele and Roosevelt one each for a total of 10. No other school has won more than three—Middletown and Newark being tied at that figure in the "modern era" since the state scholastic association took over the tourney. Stivers has won four in that period. Akron North and Dover are the only two-time victors since 1923.

In Class B only two teams have won twice, Bellpoint of Delaware in 1924 and 1925, and the famed "Waterloo Wonders" in 1934 and 1935.

Just where the lightning will strike this time is a mystery, but the chances are all against a repeat performance by Findley and Eaton, the Class A and Class B victors of 1948. Findlay, playing a not-too-tough schedule, defeated Bowling Green 45-28 last week for its 15th win in 16 starts, but the Trojans are minus most of the talent which carried 'em to the heights.

The lone Trojan loss was to Xenia Central, beaten once in 17 starts, and which also numbers among its victims the Class B champion Eaton crew.

One team which might cut a figure, despite a non-impressive record, is Dover, the 1927 and 1933 champ. After knocking Lancaster off the Central Ohio league top spot a week ago, Dover surprised everyone last week with a 53-48 victory over Coshocton to erase that club from the loop lead. Lancaster now has a 17-2 record, and Coshocton 16-3.

This and That: The Gay Blades of Bladensburg tripped Centerburg 32-28 for their first Knox county tourney victory in 10 years . . . Carl Bachman, Findlay coach, will officiate the Richland county tourney starting tonight . . . Chillicothe, which hasn't won a game in 18 starts, made 27 of 30 free throw attempts in losing 51-55 to Springfield, winner of seven of 17.

Ken Alessi of Yorkville, the pint-sized scoring sensation, now has 1006 points in 28 games—an average of 35.9—which is about as many as some teams boast. Walnut Creek, that little Amish settlement in Holmes county where 12 of the 14 high school boys are on the cage team, smothered Lakeville 61-31 last week for its 22nd straight win and a berth in the sectional meet at Dover.

Here are some of the team won-lost records: Toledo Central Catholic 11-0 in City league; Canton South 15-3, Canton Central 12-3, Youngstown Chaney 16-1, Girard 15-2, Portsmouth 13-4, Cincinnati Norwood 17-3, Lakewood 13-0, Sandusky 8-5, Garfield Heights 18-0, Hamilton 15-1, Lisbon 15-4, Mansfield 13-6 (all losses on road), Massillon 10-4, Bucyrus 14-1, Middletown 14-3, Lima South 10-6, Fostoria 10-6, Lima Central 8-6, Canton McKinley 11-5, Coshocton 16-3, Barnesville 16-2, New Philadelphia 12-5, Columbus Central 19-1, Carlisle 17-1, Lockland Wayne, 23-1, Rocky River 14-0, Monroeville 17-1, Akron Ellet 13-1, Fredericktown 22-1, Ames-Bern 18-2, Conesville 18-0, Woodsfield 21-2, West Elkton 23-2 and Olive Branch 17-1.

Little Walnut Creek, mentioned above, has 1329 points in 22 games, to 754 for the foe. That's a 26-per-game margin.

Bob Lemon May Be Serious Holdout

Hegan and Bearden Expected In Camp

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Pitcher Gene Bearden and Catcher Jim Hegan, two of the twelve Cleveland Indian holdouts, were expected to be in training camp uniforms next Tuesday, but Hurler Bob Lemon may still be on the sidelines.

President Bill Veeck admitted yesterday that Lemon would probably be the only "tough one" to sign, but he felt that Lemon would soon come to contract terms.

NOT SERIOUS

Second baseman Joe Gordon arrived at the Indians' Tucson, Arizona, spring training camp yesterday, and Veeck believes "the flash" is not a serious holdout.

Gordon, home run and runs-batted-in leader of the Tribe for the past two seasons, probably is the third highest paid Redskin, topped only by Manager Lou Bondreau and Bob Feller. Gordon is believed to be asking for $30,000.

★

NEW YORK —(UP)— The New York Yankees put the finishing touches today to what they hope will be the American league's best outfield when they got Johnny Lindell's acceptance of his 1949 contract.

The six-foot, five-inch power slugger was the last member of the picket line to come to terms.

PLENTY OF 'EM

The Yanks have Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich for two outfield spots. If Charley Keller is fully recovered from his spinal operation, the third berth is his. If he isn't ready, there's Lindell, who hit .317 in 88 games last year, Hank Bauer, Cliff Mapes, or Gene Woodling.

The Cincinnati Reds also got agreement from a star outfielder, Hank Sauer, who hit .260 last year, drove in 97 runs, and had 35 homers.

The Reds got signed pacts from pitcher Herman Wehmeier, who won 11 games and lost eight last year, and catcher Homer (Dixie) Howell, who batted .292 for San Francisco in the Pacific Coast league.

The Boston Braves finally settled their dispute with outfielder Marv Rickert, who had turned down the team's first offer because it was "lower than I got in the minors." Rickert, who was brought up hurriedly when Geoff Heath was injured, played in five World Series games and batted .211.

Rickert said the Braves' new offer was the "best contract" he ever got.

The Braves also signed second baseman Connie Ryan, who filled in for injured Eddie Stanky and hit .213 in 51 games.

★

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Pittsburgh Pirate officials announced today their four coaches have sent in signed contracts.

Johnny Riddle will handle the pitchers in the bullpen, Goldie Holt will coach first and Bill Posedel will be at third base. The veteran Honus Wagner will be available wherever needed.

★

BOSTON —(AP)— Righthanded pitcher Vern Bickford agreed to terms of the Boston Braves today but he will have to "take it easy" for several days at the National league championship training camp at Bradenton, Fla.

Bickford, who won 10 and lost five last year in his first try at the majors, underwent a minor operation two weeks ago, he informed General Manager John Quinn.

Newest National Umps Think Leo 'Isn't Bad Guy'

PHOENIX, ARIZ., — (AP) — Lon Warneke, newest member of the national league umpiring staff, thinks manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants "isn't a bad guy at all."

Warneke will umpire the Giants' spring games here.

"I've played with and against Leo," Warneke said. "I think I'm going to get along with him just as I'm going to get along with other managers."

Warneke says he's going into the big leagues to stay.

"I'll call them as I see them," he said, "and I believe I'll get along with everyone up there."

The former big league pitcher made that statement yesterday after being assigned by league president Ford Frick to umpire the New York Giants opening games here.

Holgate Plans Brown Field

PAULDING — (UP) — Joe E. Brown, actor and former baseball player, plans to attend the dedication of Joe E. Brown stadium in Holgate, O., in July, Ernie Rulman, state semi-pro baseball commissioner announced today.

The stadium will be the scene of the 14th annual Ohio State semi-pro baseball tournament, which opens July 24. The dedication ceremonies will mark the opening of the tourney.

Brown, a native of Holgate, last week was named by the national baseball congress as the individual who has done the most to encourage sandlot baseball.

New Miami Coach Chooses Brickles Top Assistant

OXFORD—(INS)—Miami university had two new men today to coach the Redskins' football team next season.

Dr. Ernest H. Hahne announced the appointment of Denison's whizbang Woodrow "Woody" Hayes yesterday.

Last night, John Brickels, backfield coach and chief scout for the professional Browns, was named top assistant to Hayes.

Both men are one-time mentors of the New Philadelphia high school squad.

Hayes, chosen just six weeks after George Blackburn resigned to accept a coaching role at University of Cincinnati, is to report next Tuesday, beginning a one-year contract.

He coached Denison to 18 straight victories in the past two seasons.

Hayes graduated from Denison in 1935 and has been teaching football ever since, except for a spell in the navy. He commanded a PC in the battle for the Palau islands and later was put in command of the destroyer escort Rinehart.

Brickels, a Newark native, was graduated from Wittenberg in 1930.

Two Crawford Fives Advance To Sectional

BUCYRUS — Leesville and New Washington were assured district tournament berths after winning semi-final games in the Crawford county basketball tournament here last night.

Leesville, county league champion, swept past Tiro, 47-31, while New Washington outlasted Suphur Springs, 33-31. The victors will meet in a final game at 9 p.m. Saturday with losers battling for consolation honors at 7:30.

Tiro threw a scare into Leesville in the first half last night when it trailed only 25-21. Cole, Tiro's six-four center who collected 12 points in the first two quarters, was stopped cold in the last half however.

Biggest Hockey Crowd At Cincy

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league treated a crowd of 11,500 "first nighters" to spurts of ice wizardry last night as they humbled a Cincinnati team, 5-2, at the formal opening of the $3,000,000 Cincinnati garden.

The crowd, sitting in on the debut of professional hockey here, was the largest ever to see the ice sport in Ohio.

Ohio State Swimming Ace Gun for Undefeated Season

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio State's swimming stars will be gunning for their sixth consecutive victory of the season and their first unbeaten season since 1947 when they invade Michigan natatorium Saturday in the season's finale.

Thus far Coach Mike Peppe's paddlers have dunked Wisconsin, Northwestern, North Carolina, Iowa, Purdue. A victory over Michigan's well-balanced Wolverines would make the Buckeyes a serious threat to capture the western conference championship.

Last year Michigan torpedoed the Bucks 19-meet streak 46-38 in a heart stopper. The Wolves went on to win the western conference and national collegiate crowns before Ohio state garnered its third straight national AAU title at New Haven, Conn.

Peppe was his usual pessimistic self in predicting either a Michigan victory or at best a tie

The diminutive mentor who piloted the U.S. Olympic divers at London last summer said:

"At first I thought Iowa had the power in the conference, but since we beat them in a great upset, Michigan is the team we must beat."

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — The Philadelphia Athletics added Kewanee (Ill.) of the Central association as their 11th farm club today.

Pennsy Plans Strong Sports Bribery Bill

HARRISBURG, PA., — (AP) — Only Governor James H. Duff's signature is needed to give Pennsylvania a strong sports anti-bribery law.

The measure, sponsored by Senator M. Harvey Taylor, completed its journey through the general assembly yesterday when it was passed by the house. The senate previously approved the measure.

Gov. Duff, one-time Princeton university baseball pitcher, is expected to sign the bill within a day or two.

The bill makes any person subject to penalties up to three years' imprisonment and a $3,000 fine for even attempting to bribe a player or anyone connected with a sports event.

Taylor, Harrisburg republican and former minor league baseball player, said under his bill "you dare not even flirt with anybody connected with a sports team or athlete."

Commissioner Bert Bell of the national league conducted a personal drive for the legislation.

John Palmer May Be Late

HARLINGEN, Tex., — (AP) — Johnny Palmer may be arriving a year late as golf's leading money-winner.

It was in February of 1948, during the first annual $10,000 Rio Grande valley open here, that George Schneiter, chairman of the PGA tournament committee, predicted the Badin, N. C., star would be the No. 1 earner of 1948.

Palmer didn't make it. But he returns to the Rio Grande valley open, starting tomorrow, amid general forecasts that he will turn the trick in 1949. "Most of the players think this will be Johnny's year," Schneiter said.

Palmer joined the touring professionals Jan. 27 at Phoenix, Ariz., and has participated in four tournaments this year, winning $3,915.33. Included were third places and first money of $2,000 last week end in the Houston open.

Wildcats Eye Both Tourneys

LEXINGTON, Ky., — (UP) — A source close to university officials said today that Kentucky is considering playing in both the NCAA and National Invitational basketball tournaments.

Athletic department officials refused comment on the widespread reports, but this one source said such a move was being discussed. He said coach Adolph Rupp wanted his four graduating stars — Alex Groza, Ralph Beard, Wallace Jones and Cliff Barker — to have a chance at every available honor.

No team has ever before played in both trounaments.

New Books For Children Offer Variety of Entertainment

By LIBRARY STAFF MEMBER

There's a big variety of new books at the Mansfield Public library for young readers.

One of them is NAMES AND GAMES, by F. J. Prout. This is a simple primer that many first graders can now read almost without help. It has stories about boys and girls and about animals. It has things to do and games to play.

NOISES AND MR. FLIBBERTY-JIB, by Gertrude Crampton, is a silly story about a man who had a rumble-rumble-rumble and a bumble-bumble-bumble inside his head. He said it was because there were so many noises. Mrs. Flibberty-Jib said it was because he didn't eat roast beef and wear mittens. This good story has a surprise ending.

SCUFFY is a tugboat that decided not to stay in the river and work all the time. So he ran away and had a lot of adventures. Gertrude Crampton wrote this story, too. It has a map at the end for you to follow Suffy's trail.

It's hard always to think fast when danger comes and do the right thing, and the people who can do it are real heroes. SLIP, the little fox, didn't even think but he did the right thing, for once, and became a hero. Phoebe Erickson wrote this story and all of you who like animal stories will like it.

Another animal story, but a very different kind is WATCHDOG by Laura Bannon. This is a tale of Mexico, of a fair, of a dog for sale, of a boy who wanted him, of fireworks, of visitors and a final happiness. GOING UP tells the story of vertical transportation, mostly levers and elevators.

Joseph Leeming's newest book is IT'S EASY TO MAKE MUSIC.

WASHINGTON, ITS EARLY DAYS AND WAYS, by Mary Kochka, is an interestingly written book about the beginnings of our national capital. It includes the story of George and Martha Washington. It tells about the Madisons and the burning of Washington in 1812.

For older girls, STAR FOR GINNY, by Phyllis Whitney, is suggested. This is the story of a girl who wanted to be an illustrator of children's books and had to take a roundabout way towards success. She found a job in a Chicago department store.

PASS THAT PUCK, by Richard Flood, is for older boys. As the title suggests it is a hockey stor.

Marilyn Stops In Mansfield On 10,000-Mile Manhunt

Marilyn Maxwell, Hollywood actress-singer who will appear at the Madison theater Thursday with Gene Krupa and his band, is on a 10,000-mile man hunt, the United Press reports from Hollywood.

Although her cross-country personal appearance tour is ostensibly for the purpose of plugging her latest movie, Miss Maxwell served notice to the United Press that as far as she's concerned it's strictly a non-stop 'man derby.'

The actress was quoted as saying, "I don't think I'm a bad bargain. I can cook, I can clean house, I can sing and dance, and if a man likes the outdoor life—well, I'll go outdoors with him."

As for qualifications, she is looking for a man with a sense of humor, honesty, and strong character.

Although a hairdresser chaperone is accompanying Miss Maxwell on the tour, she said that if a likely looking prospect appears on the scene she'll be available faster than he could ask for her autograph.

City Native Dies At 72

Stephen Edward Ludwig, 72, native of Mansfield, and mayor of Bexley for 14 years, died last night at his home in Columbus. Mr. Ludwig had been ill three months.

Born in Mansfield, he moved to Columbus 54 years ago and became associated with the Braun Pharmacal company while studying pharmacy. After passing the state pharmaceutical board examination in 1897, Mr. Ludwig joined the Parke-Davis company as a salesman. He founded Luthol Dental Laboratories in 1916 in Columbus and owned the firm until 1929 when he retired.

While serving as mayor of Bexley, Columbus suburb, he was credited with formulating Bexley's zoning policy and, as being instrumental in planning its present electrification system. Following his retirement he served as director for several Columbus business firms.

Surviving are a brother, Charles Ludwig of Mansfield, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Grebling of Lexington. Other survivors are: his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Wheeler Ludwig; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Benedum of Pittsburgh; one grandson and another brother, Harvey Ludwig of Golden, Col.

Funeral arrangements were being completed today at the Schoedinger funeral home in Columbus.

Indians Carve Ball Diamonds

MARIANNA, Fla. — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are busily carving out baseball diamonds here in preparation for just about their biggest mass training of farmhands yet.

The drills will take place at the old Marianna air base, where ground crews working under Buzz Wetzel have built seven full-size diamonds.

Top talent in the Cleveland organization will direct about 350 players and 40 coaches in several weeks of intensive training. They will report March 14.

Red Conspiracy In the U.S.A.

Hiss' Lawyer Makes Fatal Error; Papers Produced

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

On August 28, 1948, lacking documentary evidence that secret government information had been stolen, and having heard from or testimony concerning 40 persons, the committee issued an interim report. I quote portions of it:

"It should be noted that the stark fact that Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers, a self-confessed paid communist functionary and espionage agent, were acquainted with each other, and did have numerous transactions and associations together, is of far greater significance than whether Chambers was known to Hiss by the name of 'Carl' or of 'George Crosley.' This fact has been established without challenge, although through the years it had been established by no other investigation."

But momentous events were in the making.

Shortly after Chamber's last appearance on our witness stand he, in response to Hiss's challenge, appeared on a radio program and accused Hiss of most of the things he had said under congressional hearing immunity.

In view of the indignation in Hiss's voice, at the time he challenged Chambers to repeat his charges in public, I expected Hiss to file a libel or slander suit the following day. It took him a month.

Then a Hiss attorney, during a pre-trial examination of Mrs. Chambers in Baltimore, in which district Hiss had lodged his slander suits against Chambers, made a historic blunder.

What he said to Mrs. Chambers may never be known. Whatever was said outraged Chambers, a man normally slow to anger. As he said later to Rep. Nixon, a fellow Quaker:

"You will understand this. When I testified before the committee last August I wanted to expose the communist conspiracy, but I did not want to destroy the humans involved. I sat for a whole day in meditation, as to what I should do. Finally I came to the conclusion that I could go just so far, and achieve exposure without destroying the families of the people involved.

"But after my testimony they spread stories that I was insane and that I was a pervert.

"Then they called in my wife and were very rough with her. It made me angry. I know as a Quaker I must never act in anger. So I sat for another day, and I came to the conclusion that the only thing to do was to tell everything I knew, to spare no one. This thing must be stopped. Look what they're doing in China and Eastern Europe. We've got to know what we're confronted with in this country."

But no one knew of the man's tremendous decision until November 17, 1948, when he was next called by Hiss's attorneys for a pre-trial examination.

PRODUCES DOCUMENTS

There had never been any suggestion that documentary evidence existed in the Hiss-Chambers case. But it is routine for lawyers to ask, and they did ask Chambers, if he had any documentary material to support his allegations.

He reached in his pocket and drew out a sheaf of typewritten documents.

"Alger Hiss gave me these when we worked together in the Communist conspiracy," he said. They were copoes, he said, of secret State department records. There were 65 of them.

It was a bombshell whose sound almost immediately reached the ears of Alexander Campbell, head of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. He rushed to Baltimore and took personal possession of the papers. He imposed secrecy on all concerned.

But the committee, which appeared to be going down the drain, knew nothing of this at the time. Two weeks later, however, a Chambers attorney named Nicholas Vazzana came into my office to ask permission to examine Hiss's file and to secure a copy of the testimony of the previous summer. He had visited us before, but now there was something different about him.

He seemed unusually pleased with himself, and I asked him why.

"Can't talk," he said, "or I might be held in contempt of court."

Something prompted me to keep him around the premises. I suggested that we go up and say hello to Rep. Nixon. "You'll like him," I said. I took him to see the young Californian and we chatted amiably for a time before I brought up the hint he had dropped.

"I can't discuss it with either of you," Vazzana said. "But I suppose I can tell you it has something to do with the Hiss-Chambers libel suit, and it concerns documents."

I doubt if Nixon and I were able to maintain our poker faces when he mentioned "documents." But he would go no further.

All I had to go on was Vazzana's hint and the item about "new and sensational" evidence in the Washington column. But I had an overpowering feeling that I must see Chambers again. Congressman Nixon had made all arrangements to take his wife to Panama on their first vacation in three years. They were packed.

I found myself developing a slight frenzy to question Chambers further, and that frenzy proved contagious. Though he had precious little time before his ship sailed from New York, Nixon hopped in the car with me and we drove—faster than the law allowed—to Chamber's Maryland farm.

(TOMORROW: Stripling tells for the first time exactly how the fabulous "pumpkin papers" were obtained.)

Mystery Killing Marked 'Unsolved'

PORTSMOUTH — (INS) — Police today officially recorded the fatal shooting of Dr. George E. Obrist, 45-year-old Portsmouth physician, as an unsolved murder.

Lausche Declares Ohio's Financial Cupboard Becoming Bare

Calls State Leaders In For Parley

Concerned Over Sales Tax Drop

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's financial cupboard is bare of any big appropriation increases this legislative session.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche indicated things were worse now than a month ago when he told the General assembly only $4,000,000 was apparent for "extras."

The governor invited 19 leading Ohioans in today for a look at the figures.

They included representatives of business, cities, schools, labor and the state executive and legislative branches.

Demands for appropriation increases have soared towards the $150,000,000 mark this session.

Lausche apparently wants to learn just how this golden flood is to come about or whether a deficit or new taxes are in prospect.

He has argued that the state's surplus of about $72,000,000 go for capital improvements only, instead of for current expenses. And he stands opposed to new taxes.

But the governor has expressed concern over shrinking sales tax revenues which last year approximated $144,000,000.

Finance Director H. D. Defenbacher is reported in a quandary over drafting the two-year budget bill. He'll be at the meeting.

Others invited are: David Sutton of the Ohio Public Expenditure council; Herschel Atkinson of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce; Gordon McKay of the League of Ohio Municipalities; Mayor Michael Disalle of Toledo, president of the league; Frank Hanrahan, Cleveland finance director; O. C. Johnson of New Philadelphia and A. M. Parker of Lebanon, representing the Ohio Auditors association.

Phil Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Federation of Labor; Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO council; Walton Bliss, executive secretary of the Ohio Education association; State Treasurer Don Ebright.

Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander; Joseph Fichter, Ohio State Grange president; D. R. Stanfield of the Ohio Farm bureau; Chairman Anna F. O'Neil (D-Summit) of the House Finance committee, Chairman Clingan Jackson (D-Mahoning) of the Senate Finance committee, and Chairman James M. Carney (D-Cuyahoga) of the House Taxation committee.

Tax Collections Total $999,347

County Treasurer Charles C Payne said today the first-half real estate tax collection stands at $999,347, but a great deal of mail remains to be processed.

He also said four collectors in outlying districts have not yet made their returns. The deadline for payments was Monday. The total tax bill is $1,267,391.

Clerks, Trustees Will Hear Talk On U. S., State Road Laws

Joseph R. Thomas, president of the Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, will address a luncheon-meeting of the Richland county trustees and clerks tomorrow at the First Methodist church.

Thomas will speak on new state and federal laws in relation to county and rural roads, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said.

The annual one-day road meeting will start at 10 a. m., with a program conducted by Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner.

Another part of the morning program will feature a discussion by B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer. Movies on rural sanitation will be shown.

Rusk said the luncheon will be prepared by Circle Three, headed by Mrs. H. R. Crowell.

Scheduled for the afternoon session is a movie on roads, presented by the Asphalt Institutes' office of Cincinnati, and another on rural road work in South America.

Rusk said invitations went to trustees and clerks, county officials and Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, and Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison.

Depression 'Inevitable'

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The man who heads Congress' economic study believes that a depression is inevitable unless the federal government controls monopolies through a system of chartering corporations.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., chairman of the joint committee of Congress on economic reports, warned that "big business can not continue to concentrate its control without bringing about the sort of depression that we have gone through before and without bringing about the concentration of government that will result in the end of a democratic government."

The Wyoming senator told the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative association here yesterday that combinations of businesses in this country have brought about a concentration of employment beyond the imagination of the ordinary person.

Only 4900 businesses of the 3,500,000 in the nation employ 40 per cent of all workers, he said.

'Forced' Into Life of Crime

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., — (UP) Gerard G. Dennis, 28, the $1,000,000 jewel thief, said today he thought the public was getting the "wrong idea" about him. He said he didn't turn to crime because he wanted to but because he was "forced to."

The debonair Canadian, who admits his career as a "raffles" was furthered by his resemblance to movie star Robert Taylor, explained that his father was convicted of embezzlement when he was six years old.

"After that happened," he said, "all the other boys in my hometown of St. Catherines, Ontario, weren't allowed to play with me by their parents. I guess I got bitter and by the time I was 15, I was forced to turn to crime."

President Denounces Columnists

Pearson Answers Truman's Outburst

Washington commentator and newspaper comulmnist.

It marked the second time within a year that the President has assailed Pearson. When the commentator reported that Mr. Truman had made a disparaging remark about the Jews, the President replied:

"I had thought I wouldn't have to add another liar's star to that fellow's crown, but I will have to do it "

President Franklin D. Roosefelt once characterized Pearson as "a chronic liar."

In his informal speech, Mr. Truman said "there have been some very vicious attacks on my military aide, unjustified, and I say advisedly, vicious."

"They are not intended to smear him, but he happens to be my military aide and in a campaign I am the head of one of the great political parties, and therefore, a fair target for everything, and those who are around me sometimes get the attacks and they are not pleasant.

"But I can say this to you, that I have four secretaries, these four military aides, and a number of executive assistants, and they are able to take it."

The President also took a crack at columnists in general, a favorite topic in his political campaign speeches.

"I was reading a book this evening on pollsters," he said. "It is a most interesting book—it's just out. And the gentleman who wrote that book made a remark which I think is a classic. He said that if he ever found himself in agreement with the Chicago Tribune or some of these columnists and broadcasters who have been attacking my staff, he wouud know very well that he was wrong and he would survey his situation once more before he decided "

Ask Fixed Steel Wage

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The United Steelworkers (CIO) today asked Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin to fix minimum wages in the steel industry for work on government contracts at $1.085 per hour in 12 southern states and $1.23 an hour elsewhere.

The request was made at the start of public hearings on the union's petition for an increase in the present rates of 45 cents for the south and 62.5 cents elsewhere. These rates were set in 1939.

U. S. Steel corporation, Republic and a score other companies opposed the union request.

The independent International Association of Machinists intervened in behalf of the requested increase.

Under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts act, Tobin is authorized to fix minimum wages and working conditions in plants engaged in government work.

God, Patriotism Can Preserve Nation's Homes, Speaker Says

"God must be brought back into the American home if our country's way of life is to remain for posterity", Wallace C. Hall told the Mansfield Rotary club and Sons of the American Revolution in a Washington's birthday talk yesterday.

Hall, a Detroit lawyer and chancellor general of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, spoke on the subject, "Citizenship — a Family Job". He spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

He stressed that Americans seem to be "ashamed" to show outwardly before their children their patriotism to the United States and their reverence towards God.

Hall contended that parents, in relaxing the reverent atmosphere of the American home, have furthered the lack of American patriotism.

"Without the home, we can not have a democratic and strong nation; and without God we can not have an American Home", Hall said.

W. C. HALL

Hall was introduced by Rotarian John T. Shook, who is immediate post president of the Ohio SAR.

Conciliator Will Return To Galion

Strike At Hercules Plant Continuing

GALION — H. J. Montoney, federal conciliator from Columbus, left the city today and returns Friday to continue union contract negotiations at two local industries. The other, where work still continues, is at the Central Ohio Steel Products company where the union seeks an extension of its contract. Yesterday Montoney spent most of the day with Central Ohio's negotiating group.

The Hercules strike was called after a negotiating committee of the IAM and the management failed to reach an agreement over piece-work rate adjustments. All factory operations have ceased at Hercules.

Stocks Fail In Attempt At Seeking Higher Level Today

NEW YORK—(AP)—An early try at higher price levels didn't make much headway in the stock market today.

For a while fractional gains were in a majority. Before noon, though, buying interest faded and prices were clipped all along the line. In some cases minus signs replaced plus.

A dividend for Brooklyn Union Gas, the first since August, 1947, was evidently a great disappointment to stockholders. The stock lost more than a point. A larger payment was probably expected.

Texas Pacific Land, on the other hand advanced around 2 points. The rise coincided with news of a new production on the company's Texas oil lands.

Truman Program Outdoes Townsend

REQUIRED EXPENDITURES under President Truman's program for not only broadening the scope of federal social security but also increasing government aid to states in providing care for all needy persons, would be so stupendous as to make present taxation seem insignificant.

Even the Townsend plan, which was so lightly regarded by other than its ardent supporters before the second World war, now appears as a moderate measure in comparison to the Truman proposals.

Broadening of social security benefits to include millions of persons not now eligible, with an increase in payments to beneficiaries, has been quite generally approved, but the extent to which this is carried in the President's recommendations represents idealistic thinking that does not check with actuarial realism.

There is a plain line of demarcation between President Truman's ideas of placing such a terrific burden on taxpayers (who would be taxpayers?) and Senator Taft's outline of a program for social welfare based on federal aid "to enable states to do a more complete job in providing medical care for the needy; a better and more complete system of old age pensions; federal aid to education, and federal aid to provide public housing for the lowest income groups."

According to Senator Taft: "This program is based not on the aim of paying the expenses of persons able to pay their own expenses . . . but rather on the elimination of hardship and poverty."

Provision for comfortable living of aged persons; those afflicted by blindness or other physical handicaps; invalids with insufficient income to meet their own needs—in fact all who are so unfortunate as to be unable to support themselves—must be accepted as a part of public responsibility, but any program that might tend to encourage indolence on the part of able-bodied persons, and dependence on government support rather than possible earnings by work would be of questionable merit in solving present problems and in encouraging the initiative, industry and desire for self-betterment which have contributed so largely in the progress of this country.

It should also be kept in mind that current calculations are based on the shrunken dollar value of this inflationary period—apparently without regard for the already noticeable downward trend in prices—and that even this strong nation cannot be assured against bankruptcy unless the federal government joins in adjusting expenditures to probable income during the process of deflation.

Trieste's Status Still Unsettled

AFTER two years of deadlock, Russia is ready to agree on a governor for the Free Territory of Trieste. But the United States and Great Britain, which were eager to set up the Trieste government and withdraw their troops two years ago, now are afraid that if they do so a communist coup will follow.

From the beginning of the problem Russia has favored giving Trieste to Yugoslavia, and recently repeated that position publicly. Great Britain and the United States would prefer to return the city to Italy, which obtained it from Austria at the close of the First World War.

Experience with the free city scheme in this century has not been encouraging. Danzig was set up as a free city after the first war, on a plan similar to that scheduled for Trieste. Danzig always was a sore spot in relations between Germany and Poland, in the period between the wars, and was linked to the Polish Corridor question to provide Hitler's chief excuse for beginning the war.

Economy Seen In Library Center

MIDWEST LIBRARIES will soon be able to pool some of their work and avoid duplication. A Midwest Inter-Library Center will be built in Chicago through a $500,000 grant by the Carnegie Corporation of New York City. This will house rare books bought by several libraries acting together, and kept there for the use of all of them.

Various references and bibliographic services will be located at the center, making it unnecessary for several individual libraries to maintain these services by themselves, with resulting duplication

Libraries for the most part have so little money available that any possible cut in expenditures will be welcomed. The Library of Congress has for years sold catalogue cards at a nominal figure to libraries all over the country, thereby saving them the task of doing the work for themselves. The new center probably will not be the last device for eliminating unnecessary duplication of library work.

Revival of "Diamond Lil" on Broadway answers that question. "What's become of Mae West?"

Modern Version of "Custer's Last Stand."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Costly Methods of Enforcing Honesty

SOMETIMES it seems as if it costs more to prevent crookedness in government than it's worth. This is a conclusion forced upon the observer of our cumbersome federal bureaucracy. It is reinforced in reading the successive reports of the Hoover Commission.

There was, in other days, plenty of reason to attack dishonesty in public service. And I do not mean to imply that human nature is any better now.

But a generation in which reform was concentrated on unearthing or preventing dishonesty has left barnacles on the public service which cost us more than the thieving of a good many crooks.

For example, there are 558-000 accountable officers in the government. That means officers who handle money and whose honesty and accuracy must be checked. These officers are required by law to furnish bond. The premiums on these surety bonds, which are written by private companies, amount to $2,000,000 annually. The amount of recoveries on the bonds amounts to $230,000 annually.

There is no reason why the government should not collect all or a part of the difference between these sums. Hence, the Hoover Commission recommends that a fidelity insurance fund should be set up in the treasury to which these officers should contribute In short, the government would do its own bonding business and save the drain now going out to private companies

• • •

Expensive Processes.

A VERY large proportion of the $47,000,000 spent in the General Accounting Office goes into an unwieldy checking of vouchers. This is designed to protect the treasury against mistakes, dishonesty and illegal expenditures

Proper accounting in the various departments would eliminate much of this paper-shuffling And an over-all selective audit would protect the treasury against serious dishonesty.

The post office department, according to the Hoover report, is seriously hampered by 900 pages of detailed laws and regulations—an accumulation of generations

As this column has already pointed out, the government keeps mountains of records, presumably in the remote chance that some check may be necessary. Duplications and obsolete material could be thrown away at a great saving.

The most important example of the dead hand, however, is in civil service regulations. They were set up to protect government against improper, dishonest or political appointments.

The effect is to freeze incompetents in office, to frustrate initiative and consume executives' time in red tape.

Honesty in government depends upon top-side responsibility. A president or department head cannot afford to permit chances to be taken. But he must be free to protect himself and the service and not be hampered by a web of regulations not of his own making.

It is better to rely on such major executives and to reconcile ourselves to an occasional theft than to tie up the whole machinery of government with costly protections. The effort to enforce honesty has actually become a powerful enemy of efficiency and economy.

Frankly Speaking

What Price Agreement?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—It's like telling a pal "We have to protect each other and if anybody slugs you, you can count on me."

The pal says "Count on you, how?" And you get red and confused and you can't answer.

That's how it is with us now after all the talk about a North Atlantic pact

Our state department has been talking for months with Canada and the nations of Western Europe about an agreement.

The purpose is to protect all of us against an attack by communism. If those other countries fall, we'll be practically alone in the world.

We're stronger than they are, and they need us. But we need them, too. All the work on the agreement has been done quietly. It isn't finished yet. And none of it has been made public.

And when it is completed, it will be a worthless scrap of paper unless the Senate approves. So it has a long way to go.

But these questions will hit the heart of any agreement between this country and the Western European democracies:

1. "Will the agreement mean anything at all unless we give an iron promise to fight for any ally that's attacked?

2. And how can we keep any allies, or expect them to stand up against threats or attack, unless we give such a promise?

And right there the problem unfolds

Congress, alone under the Constitution, has the power to declare war. If war comes in the future it'll be the job of the Congress in session at the time to declare the war.

Then how can this present Congress promise that some future Congress will declare war?

• • •

How Much Obligation?

Of course, a President might decide fighting for an ally was needed for this country's safety and—

If one of our allies was attacked, he might throw our armed forces into battle, leaving it to Congress to declare war later, formally.

But can any Congress, which alone has power to declare war, give any president, present or future, power to make war?

This country never before has entered a military alliance before getting into a war.

The fact that this is a problem now shows how far we've moved from the isolationism that kept us out of the League of Nations.

Now the question is: Do we go all the way, promising armed help? Or do we give some sort of half-promise that may leave our allies jittery and, in the end, leave us without allies at all?

All this is part of the problem of working out the North Atlantic agreement.

A few days ago Senator Connally, Texas Democrat, startled the world by saying of the agreement: It wouldn't mean we'd have to go to war to help an ally that was attacked; it wouldn't even mean we had a "moral" obligation to do so.

This shook western Europe. The communists used it as propaganda against us. And Connally came back next day with a statement which said in effect

In case one of the allies in the agreement was attacked, each of the others would have to "take such measures as it may deem necessary to maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

That, it seems to me, could mean something or nothing and wasn't much more enlightening than what Connally said first.

It might mean we'd fight for an ally that was attacked. Or it might mean we'd just stay home and build our fences.

Squabble Over Offices Results In Delay

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The old physical axiom that two bodies can't occupy the same space has stymied vitally important legislation in the House interstate and foreign commerce committee. It's quite a joke on Capitol Hill, but not for the public.

"The bodies," in this case, are two quite animate congressmen—Democrat Bob Crosser of Ohio and Republican Charles Wolverton of New Jersey, both of whom want to occupy the same office.

This office—next to the interstate commerce committee's meeting room—has always been the private sanctum of the committee chairman. However, outgoing Chairman Wolverton, Republican, has refused to pack up and leave so Crosser, new Democratic chairman, can move in.

Meantime, the white-thatched, 74-year-old Crosser, who gets about in a wheel chair, must shuttle up and down between the committee room and his old office on the first floor.

Crosser, however, has done little shuttling or legislating. While his temper has been mounting against Wolverton—and against Speaker Sam Rayburn for refusing to oust Wolverton—important bills on national health insurance, freight rates, and other matters also are piling up in the committee.

No hearings have been held (at this writing) on any of this legislation, though congress has been in session almost eight weeks. Wolverton, who moved in when he became chairman two years ago, insists he has priority under a 1918 resolution giving House members the right to remain in an office they occupied during the previous session.

Meanwhile, the committee's legislative slag-pile gets higher and higher while the two prima donnas fight it out.

Snows Cause Bee Losses.

ALL SORTS of stories have been written about the tragic cattle and sheep losses of the west, but not a word about the plight of bees. However, their loss has been just as heavy.

Though bees hibernate through the winter, they must leave their hive every six weeks or so for a breath of fresh air. Western snowdrifts have made this impossible, and, as a result, beekeepers in the snowbound states lost 50 per cent of their bees.

Note—Bees have been overproducing lately, and the honey industry has appealed to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to take some of the surplus off its hands. The western loss, therefore, will not affect the supply of honey nationally.

• • •

Alarm-ing Coincidence.

A GRATING noise, as if a cricket were loose in the room, interrupted a group of senators and congressmen during a committee meeting the other evening.

Embarrassed, Congressman Wright Patman of Texas grabbed his wrist watch. The mysterious sound ceased.

"That alarm is just enough to wake me up in the morning without wakening my wife," apologized the Texas congressman. "But the darn thing goes off every twelve hours."

Senator Lyndon Johnson, also of Texas, kidded the congressman about his watch with the Dick Tracy trimmings. Then the group went back to work.

Five minutes later, the same cricket noise chirped out again. This time, Senator Johnson grabbed his watch.

Then it developed that Senator Johnson had been the first to acquire a cricket-chirping watch, and Congressman Patman was so intrigued with it that he hunted up a jeweler who could order one just like it from Switzerland.

• • •

Warning On Civil Rights.

A BROAD hint that Southern senators will not help repeal the Taft-Hartley act if civil rights are jammed down their throats has been given by Georgia's senator Dick Russell. Since Russell represents the South on the Democratic Policy Committee, his warning is important.

A good many Southern senators voted for the Taft-Hartley act in the first place, Russell has quietly reminded his colleagues. But they might now be willing to support Truman regarding the Taft-Hartley act if he in turn compromised for a softer stand on civil rights.

Note—Administration leaders say Truman is not likely to compromise. Civil rights was one of the most important planks in his election platform.

• • •

Fear a Revolution.

KNOWING Brazilians look with an uneasy eye on the forthcoming visit of President Eurico Gaspar Dutra to the United States. Most of them feel certain that his absence will be the signal for an attempted revolution in Brazil.

For the past two years, former dictator Getulio Vargas and Luiz Carlos Prestos, the shrewd, calculating Brazilian communist chieftain, have been laying plans for a joint comeback. Vargas, whose ambitions far outweigh his scruples, has offered important concessions to the reds in return for their support.

As their working agreement now stands, Prestos would control the ministries of labor and the interior (under which the powerful federal police functions) if Vargas came to power again. In other words, the commies would have the two key posts which they have used as springboards to complete domination in half a dozen European lands.

Growing With Houston

By INEZ ROBB

HOUSTON—Jesse Jones, the first citizen of Texas and a newspaper man himself, would like to update Horace Greeley's advice "Go West, young man."

The Texan, unlike Greeley, followed his own advice, and has wound up with more millions than he can count—and is still going strong.

As Mr. Jesse sat in his large office behind an impressive desk, pawing through it for papers he never could lay a hand on, he said:

"I believe this country offers young Americans just as much opportunity now as it ever did. But a boy can't stick around New York, New England or Pennsylvania and expect to have opportunity knock him down today. He ought to head South and West."

It was a land of golden opportunity when he came to Texas with a grade school education and started to work almost 60 years ago. It still is, in his expert opinion.

"Even then I figured the country must grow South and West. Up north, the tide of immigration went back and forth through a village called Chicago. It made a great city out of Chicago."

"So I looked around me, and I thought Houston is bound to be the Chicago of the South, but with one big additional advantage. Chicago is a thousand miles from the sea, and Houston is only 50. Then we built the ship channel from Houston to the sea and it seemed to me we had everything here."

• • •

Has Set Fast Pace.

WHEN Mr. Jesse first saw Houston 50 years ago, it was a town of 40,000.

Now Mr. Jesse envisions here a city of 2,000,000 souls, given "a reasonable amount of time" or maybe about a quarter of a century. It will not only be the center of the oil industry, but the hub of a vast industrial area as well as the great port of exit and entry between North and South America.

Although Mr. Jesse thinks Houston is getting a bit sissified because it now plays more bridge and gin rummy than poker, he still thinks the old pioneer spirit animates the region and makes it what it is

He will be 75 in April, but he has plans for a number of new buildings in down-town Houston although he is already king of the Houston skyline with 33 buildings tucked under his financial belt.

Mr. Jesse owns several valuable real estate parcels in the heart of New York. But when I asked him which he regarded as his prime investments, New York or Houston real estate, he looked pained and said:

"Houston, of course!" in a voice that doomed New York to a wilderness in a decade.

In a way, Mr. Jesse is the embodiment of Texas: Big, vigorous, handsome, ambitions, rich, generous and varied in his talents. He has a faith in himself, his state, his nation and in manifest destiny that seems to permeate the very atmosphere here.

When people in these parts talk about keeping up with the Joneses they only have one Jones in mind. They mean Mr. Jesse. He has set Houston and Texas a fast pace for decades.

He surprises 'em once in a while, too. A rugged individualist, Mr Jesse deserted the Democratic candidate last November to vote for Thomas E. Dewey. His Houston newspaper supported Dewey, too.

"I wasn't mad at anybody," Mr. Jesse explained. "I just thought we needed a change. Always takes a new set of rascals a while longer to learn the combination to the safe."

Farmer's Diary

Some Fireside Thoughts

By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON A squally wintry day, when the wind whips long whirling snow skeins about the corners of the barn, when the chickadees jubilantly somersault around the twigs on the wild cherry, there is a certain comfortable convenience about a small, low-ceilinged country home like ours.

I filled the firebox of the kitchen range and listened to the crackle of the fire as it leaped up and started the kettle to simmering. Out the back window, I could watch the storm roar on, sifting and swirling over the fields of wheat that stretch to Honey Creek.

I went out on the porch. The deep woods roared far to the north and the standing trees on the hill groaned as they leaned and moved against each other. The big flakes thickened, darkening the sky. "Swell, isn't it?" asked the small boy, turning up a rosy laughing face as he passed dragging his sled.

I nodded, smiling, too. Winter is fine—when spring is so close behind.

• • •

HOW I love the language of a long, stormy winter night! It is never mute, but speaks in loud, long swells like the waves of heavy seas.

When the family is all at home, grouped about the table with home work, playing dominoes or rook or poring over some story or puzzle—who cares that we are miles out on a country road?

A home need not be a mansion, but if it is small the folks must be nearer together in it.

Finally the boys climb the ladder to bed in the loft. I replenish the wood fire, set the griddle on and the pot for steaming coffee. 'Tis a bit extravagant to eat four meals in a day, but about three eggs in a little bacon fat with a cup of weak coffee or hot milk and some crisp brown toast—that much makes me feel right until morning.

And this quiet time, when the youngsters are abed, is just right for us two, together.

On our neighbors' farms, lights burn late at the barn these nights. Frequently both man and wife are there, for lambs are being born, calves or colts are expected. A clean-strawed stable can be a very cheery cozy place for two married lovers who are working together.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I had a terrible day, dear. . . . Everything was going fine. . . . Then Mrs. Beck phoned that she had just gotten a new spring outfit!"

Gunther's Masterpiece.

Many thousands of words have been written in the last few years in behalf of the campaign against cancer. But none have been so effective in this cause as the words which comprise John Gunther's book, "Death Be Not Proud."

It is the simple, unvarnished story of the fight waged against a brain tumor which was to claim the life of 17-year-old John Gunther, Jr. It does not admonish nor deliberately attempt to frighten. Yet it is more arresting and more frightening than all the contrived devices by which well-meaning people have sought to dramatize the menace of cancer.—Toledo Blade.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Bradley Hits 'Delinquent Citizenship'

GENERAL OMAR N BRADLEY, United States Army chief of staff and one of the outstanding commanders in World War II, preaches a powerful sermon on the dangers of "Delinquent Citizenship" in an article in Collier's magazine

As a matter of fact, this ordinarily quiet-spoken soldier rolls up his sleeves and administers a sound drubbing to shirkers The burden of his rebuke is that we Americans can lose the battle against statism if we fail to make our contributions to the welfare of the home, the school, the church and the community That means everybody—not just the other fellow, but you and me.

The general is dealing with such a vital truth, in such a forceful manner, that this column welcomes the opportunity to report his views.

He imparts the feeling that it's high time for us to take stock. He points out that our struggle against the forces of evil may be long and that "ideas are as important as the atom bomb." He sums it up bluntly like this

"Our danger lies not so much in a fifth column whose enmity is avowed. It lies in a first column of well-meaning American citizens . . . who are 100 per cent Americans in their daily protestations and ten per cent citizens in their daily routine of neglect."

General Bradley assesses the faults of the younger generation against the elders The failure of the elders to meet the demands of citizenship is responsible, he believes, for "political immaturity, economic ignorance, philosophical indifference and spiritual insolvency" of many American youth.

That strikes home to those of us who have children just arriving at maturity. It seems to me that the younger generation is reaching for ideas as youth never has before Unhappily that search is being conducted in the unhealthful atmosphere which follows any great war and which is especially bad these days as the result of the division of mankind into two hostile ideological blocs

Small wonder Bradley reports that psychologists tell him the postwar generation is undisciplined, jealously aware of rights but not of responsibilities, mercenary and antagonistic to authority. Clearly this is the time, as the general indicates, when the elders must turn to and help youth adjust itself

My personal observation is that the younger generation is actively trying to find its feet. I have two young folk of my own who are placing their problems before me

Many of those problems relate to the question of where our duties lie as citizens. And how much greater are the problems of the youths who have been away to war and have come back to adjust themselves to a new world.

General Bradley shows his upbringing as a Missouri farm boy when he uses the homely expression that what this country needs is some old-fashioned willingness "to do the chores"—a sense of responsibility.

Wives Fix Old Uniforms

By ANN SCHOENMAN

THIS may hurt your ego, fellows, but from the looks of things, I think you've gained a few extra pounds around the middle. You may not realize it, but just try and get into those old uniforms you're planning to wear to the reserve officers' dance, Friday.

Oh, well, you won't have to worry too much. Those ingenious members of the fair sex, your wives in other words, have come to the rescue. They've taken the job over and have the situation well in hand by adding a piece of material here and there to give you those much needed inches.

The wives have not only the job of stretching old uniforms, but they also have to shine buttons, belt buckles and mend torn spots in jackets.

The dance will be held Friday at the 40 et 8 club on Ashland road for all members of any reserve unit in Mansfield.

GOOD SUBSTITUTE

Dried beef is one economical solution to the meat problems. Here are suggestions from Nell Nichols in the Woman's Home Companion that make dried beef a first rate entree. Substitute creamed dried beef for milk in scalloped potatoes. Or try serving the beef creamed with bits of sharp cheese added, over buttered egg noodles. To give a dried beef meal tang serve cold slaw, but give your slaw a new lease on life by adding four celery stalks ground. Then sprinkle the cabbage with one tablespoon vinegar and dress with five tablespoons mayonnaise mixed with one chopped hard-cooked egg and a little pickle relish.

TOLEDO MAN LOSES 38 LBS. WITH RENNEL

"My wife and I both praise Rennel highly," writes Mr. G. C. Bruce, 227 Broadway, Toledo 4, Ohio. "Since taking Rennel I have lost 38 lbs., and I haven't had to go hungry or deny myself of foods. My wife has also lost weight and double praises Rennel. Since losing those extra pounds her high blood pressure is reduced and she feels better than she has for years."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on genuine Rennel.

Rev. J. A. Scott Talks To Legion Auxiliary Group

SHELBY—Rev. J. A. Scott, of the Shelby Methodist church was the guest speaker at the regular social meeting of the American Legion auxiliary held at the Legion home Monday evening.

Speaking at the Americanism program arranged by Mrs. B. Z. Hollenbaugh, Rev. Scott discussed the opportunities America offers as seen by one who comes from another country. He said that the American people did not fully appreciate or realize the great opportunities offered by this country as those who lived under other forms of government.

The girls' sextette from the Shelby High school furnished entertainment with two numbers "America The Beautiful" and "I Heard a Forest Praying."

After the program the members enjoyed games with Mrs. Bernard Spangler and Mrs. Emmett Pry winning at bridge; Mrs. Ray Baer and Mrs. William May at pinochle and Mrs Victor Young and Mrs. Orpha Mohn at contract.

Mrs. Leroy Nothacker was in charge of refreshments which were served in keeping with George Washington's birthday and had for her committee members: Mrs. Charles Payne, Mrs. Joseph DeVito, Mrs Henry Hubbs, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Wilbur Hurter, Mrs. Verlin Schiffer and Mrs Eulalia Precht.

More Idle In Germany, Clay Reveals

Prices Take Slight Drop

BERLIN — (INS) — Gen Lucius D. Clay reported Tuesday that unemployment in western Germany is "now at its highest level since the beginning of the occupation."

The U. S. military governor also noted a "small but significant" drop in prices, and a slight decrease in the cost of living throughout western-occupied Germany.

Gen. Clay in his semi-monthly report, said that a 27 per cent rise in the number of idle in January, brought total unemployment throughout western Germany to 944,200 This figure is an increase of 200,000 over the final figure for 1948.

He attributed the marked decline in jobs to these factors:

1 - A sharp let-up in construction activities caused by an increasing lack of funds

2 - Power shortages.

3 - A decline in agricultural employment.

4 - A falling off in the demand of consumer goods

Clay said that 10,000 Germans in western Berlin were rendered jobless in January because of the Soviet blockade Total unemployment in west Berlin, the general said, is now 118,533

On the agricultural front, it was disclosed, all west German states except Saxony failed to meet grain quotas. As a result, deliveries of imported grain are being withheld from the delinquent states in proportion to the extend of their deficiencies.

The general stated that the airlift's daily average for the last 10 days was 4,597 6 tons, including 1096 tons of food and 2,986 tons of coal.

Yet leaders of two railroad unions demand extra men on diesels!

Just plain feather-bedding- here's why!

Here's the truth about diesel locomotives.

Diesel locomotives are equipped with every modern device for maximum safety. They have automatic controls. They can be operated safely by one man. But two men—an engineer and a fireman—are now employed on a diesel road locomotive.

Diesel locomotives—adopted by the railroads as one way of improving their service to you—have hauled millions of passengers in recent years with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

They have pulled millions of tons of freight millions of miles—also with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

Full Pay—No Work!

Leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen are now demanding an extra engineer and an extra fireman on diesels, claiming the extra men are needed. But the facts prove these men are not needed. They would just be drawing full pay for doing no work.

The railroads are placing an ever-increasing number of diesels in service—both passenger and freight. These trains are operated at speeds consistent with safety and good service—and on both counts their record tops all public transportation.

Feather-Bedding Is Against Public Interest!

If the ridiculous demands of these union leaders were granted, it would mean paying out millions in wages to men not needed in diesel locomotives.

The leaders of the Engineers' Union have threatened to call a strike to enforce their "feather-bedding" demands. Nevertheless the railroads are resisting—and will continue to resist—such "make-work" schemes which require payment for work not done—schemes which are contrary to the interest of the whole American people.

HERE ARE THE FACTS!

1. The safety record of trains pulled by diesel locomotives is the best of all public transportation.
2. Diesel locomotives provide the best working conditions locomotive engineers and firemen have ever enjoyed: comfort, cleanliness, ease of operation, maximum safety.
3. Diesel locomotives are maintained at peak operating efficiency.
4. The diesel is virtually automatic. It is equipped with the most modern safety appliances.
5. The diesel locomotive is the last word in railroad efficiency, safety and comfort.

Red Cross Drive Aided By Students

6 Senior High Pupils Serve As Speakers

Six Senior high school students, members of the speech classes taught by Miss Martha Eckert, are on the Speakers bureau of the current Red Cross campaign organization.

The young speakers are Harold Leinendecker, Elsie Hager, Despina Nickas, Gary Haley, Robert Shambre and Joan Johnson.

"They are available for any civic group, woman's club or church organization that may want to hear of the Red Cross work," Miss Eckert said.

The six have been brought into Red Cross service through the Junior Red Cross, of which Mrs. Ephraim Brown is chairman.

Usually their talks last from three to five minutes and in that time they try to present a brief human interest story of the Red Cross and then tell how each contribution is spent through Red Cross channels for community services.

Monday, Leinendecker talked to members of the Exchange club and yesterday Miss Hager spoke to the Tuesday Book club at the home of Mrs. H. T. Stiles.

The six students are speaking in addition to the adult staff members who have been lecturing on current Red Cross service.

Blonston Shows Way to Get Social Security Help

Fifth of Eligibles Lose Funds

"Twenty per cent of the persons eligible for federal Social Security lose in one way or another some of the benefits they should receive," Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield Social Security office, said today.

Prominent among the local agency's files on cases of this type is that of Mrs. Bella Anderson and of her late husband, James Anderson. Mrs. Anderson, of 188 Cleveland avenue, gave permission to use her story in order that other persons in a similar circumstance would be forewarned and not suffer similar losses.

The Andersons came from Aberdeen, Scotland, to Mansfield nearly 40 years ago and reared their 10 children in the American way. Anderson was a stone-cutter in the old country, but not finding that type of employment in Mansfield worked for a Mansfield industrial firm until he suffered a paralytic stroke late in 1939 which forced him to discontinue working.

On Dec. 19, 1942 he became 65, the age when Social Security benefits begin, but he neglected to file for assistance through the Social Security office. He was eligible for these benefits because of his work in 1937, 1938, and 1939.

Anderson died Dec. 5, 1948. The Mansfield Social Security office first learned about his case through the funeral director.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson didn't receive a penny from the Social Security Administration from his 65th birthday until his death. He hadn't made application for benefits, Blonston said.

Anderson's monthly payments would not have been large because he had not contributed much to the fund due to ill health which kept him from full-time employment.

"But the benefit (a total loss of $1,300 in this case for the six years,) however small, would have been welcomed during the long period of my husband's illness," Mrs. Anderson said.

"If only Anderson or some member of his family had contacted this office when he was 65, we feel that our assistance would have been of some help," Blonston said.

Blonston urged persons who think they may be entitled to some Social Security benefit to come to the Mansfield Social Security office in Room 405 of the Richland Trust building for information.

Widows with children under 18 also are able to secure financial help from the fund for their children's support, and there are other cases where Social Security funds may be obtained, Blonston said.

Open Church Bids March 24

Invitations have been issued for bids on the proposed new First Congregational church at Marion avenue and Millsboro road, Charles Conklin, Mansfield architect, said today.

Thursday, March 24, has been set as the dead line on bids. They will be opened on that day, Conklin said. Following the opening of bids, it is hoped to make arrangements for ground breaking ceremonies on Easter Sunday, April 17, the architect added.

Conklin said the entire church with the exception of the chapel, probably will be built now. The church will replace the century-old church on Park avenue west which was destroyed by fire.

County Granges Approve 7-Point Program For Year

A seven-point program for the year has been drawn up by officers of Richland county Granges.

Forty persons attended a meeting in the common pleas court room Monday night to discuss the program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheppard, Richland county deputies.

The projects include: health and safety; better rural living and fraternity; conservation; temperance; strong support of the juvenile granges; more accent on youth; and plans to make the grange halls centers for the meeting of rural young people.

The projects were decided on after the general assembly had been divided into groups presided over by Pomona Grange officers.

During the past two years, there has been an increase of 700 in Grange membership in the county, bringing the total to 2,400. This represents 1,400 grange families.

At the present time there are 200 in the juvenile Granges. This number varies, Sheppard said, because juveniles keep graduating into subordinate Granges each year.

Madison, Olivesburg, Roseland, Shiloh and Union Granges are planning either to remodel or rebuild their halls as soon as conditions permit.

The Oldest People In the World Today Are the Youngest People

SOMETIME, somewhere, an oak tree is going to decide to grow back into an acorn again.

It's going to do it just for the heck of it—just for fun. It's going to do it just because it suddenly decided there's more pleasure in growing young than there is in growing up.

And there is.

Trying to grow younger gracefully has been a lifelong hobby with me. At least it has been ever since I discovered the prime curse of civilization it is tends to make people old before their time. But why should anybody ever grow old inside?

The oldest people today are the young people. They are a sad people, too, in a way that only old young people can be sad.

This has been impressed upon me anew by a weekend attendance at the Georgia Press institute here, home of the University of Georgia. I felt a curious kinship with the students here, because meeting and talking to them brought back memories of a time when I was as elderly and troubled in spirit as they are.

I survived those bitter days—my own four year sentence to college life—and I think they will, too. And years and years later, they will suddenly find themselves younger and happier.

★

Growing up is an awful troubling experience. I don't know why people go through with it. Because once you are grown up, you realize immediately that the only thing to do is to try to grow back the other way again. That is, to grow young and smart and fresh of mind again.

What are the real advantages of growing up? If just growing up taught a man or woman to be tolerant, gentle, kind or modest, it would be a wonderful thing. If growing up made a man or woman more selfless and anxious to serve his kind or fashion the world into a fairer garden, it would be a fine thing, too.

That is really growing up. But that kind of growing up usually is measured by suffering or loss rather than the number of candles on a birthday cake. The agony of an instant often adds more statue to the soul than the petty frictions of many years. People generally grow up—or fall apart—after they learn they are going to have to do without, forever, something or some one that meant almost as much to them as breath. Otherwise growing up is pretty much an undignified catalogue of minor physical changes—all bad.

You bulge out where you used to bend in. The barber spends less and less time cutting the hair on your head. He spends more and more time weeding it out of your ears. You have fewer dreams—but you walk in your sleep more in the day time.

But today, in these odd times, only little children and very old people are wise enough to be young. The children haven't learned hypocrisy, and the old people—well, they don't need it any more.

Gimbels Get Honor Citizen Pins

Honored for Work At Friendly House

Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Gimbel were named Mansfield's "Honor Citizens" of the month last night for their work with children at the Friendly House.

The Gimbels, directors of the Friendly House, were awarded the Jaycee "Citizen" pins at "The Best is Yet to Come" show in Johnny Appleseed auditorium.

The presentations were made by Elmer Hedeen, president of the Mansfield Metal Vault company. The "Honor Citizen" is chosen monthly by a committee named by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the shows.

Hedeen read letters from the Elks lodge, and Mansfield business leaders praising the Gimbels for their work on behalf of Mansfield Children.

"It gives up a great deal of satisfaction to help others," Gimbel said modestly in accepting the honor.

CROWDS SEE SHOWS

Two performances of "The Best is Yet to Come" were given last night, a full house seeing the early show and about 800 attending the late performance.

The shows are bringing back to Mansfield some of the vaudeville of a by-gone day.

Highlighting last night's show was Phil Maraquin, the "Hollywood Harlequin," who performed magic tricks, danced, and did a comedy routine.

Then there was Harris Nelson, who played three trumpets or a trumpet and an accordion at the same time, combed his hair with many combs which he pulled from all his pockets, and finally played the piano while virtually standing on his head.

Denny Beckner and his band played during the show. The other acts included Howard and Yanda Bell, acrobats; Bob and Maxine Gates, dancers; Gerry VanDyke, a yodeling cowgirl; Peyton and Raye who performed with trained dogs, and Cyril Smith, the English butler in several movies.

Lois Schnitzer, band majorette at Ashland college, was featured in an act which was made more spectacular by the use of "black lights."

Boys and girls from the county Children's home were guests at the early show. They were transported to and from the auditorium by the Mansfield Rapid, Inc. Harold Boals was Jaycee master of ceremonies at the shows.

Vets Discuss War Memorial Plans

The Richland county War Memorial will be up for discussion again at a meeting of the Joint Veterans Committee, at 8 p. m. today at the Memorial building.

It was hoped at an earlier meeting that land would be available by now for the project in commemoration of Richland county's war dead.

TWO PRESENTATIONS—Students who last night received awards in the dental health jingle contest sponsored by the dental health clinic educational committee are shown in the top picture. With them is Dr. W. E. Baird, representative of the Mansfield Dental society on the committee, who gave the awards at a P-TA council meeting at John Simpson junior high school. BUSY SALESWOMEN

Mansfield Girl Scouts took advantage of the school holiday yesterday to canvass their neighborhoods taking orders for Girl Scout cookies. The girls began taking orders Monday for the cookies which will be sold March 5 to March 12. So that busy housewives will not be bothered by more than one scout, when they place their order they are given a sticker for their window saying they have purchased Girl Scout cookies.

IT'S A FINCH

The 'orange sparrow' which caused quite a bit of comment during the past month has entered the limelight again, this time with positive identification. L. S. Barr, Mansfield bird hobbyist, inspected the mounted bird and proclaimed it a female house finch or linnet. The bird is almost a pest in the fruit areas of the west, according to Barr. He believes the bird, seldom found east of Kansas, was driven here in search of food after the blizzards hit the west. For those who can pronounce it, Barr furnished the scientific name—Carpodacus Mexicanus frontalis.

WORKS IN HAWAII

Mansfielders who remember Miss Mary Morton, former city resident will be interested to know of her position with the Hawaiian Electric company in Honolulu. Mrs. Lawrence Bergstrom, has received the company's magazine, "The Load Builder", showing Miss Morton in her remodeled office of the plant. Now editor of "The Load Builder", Miss Morton also serves as librarian for the company. She went to Hawaii about 15 years ago as a tourist and liked the country so well, she remained and got a job with the electric company. She has been there ever since with the exception of one year when she returned to work at the World's Fair in New York.

Hearings Set for Monday

Senator Taft Flays Proposal

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A top-ranking member of the House Ways and Means committee predicted today that Congress will extend the government's old-age pension program to include those who own their own business.

But he said he does not believe it would be practical to have the program take in farm workers and domestic servants.

Under the present social security law, the self-employed—doctors, lawyers and those who own their own businesses—are not coveved by the old age and survivors insurance program.

President Truman early this week urged Congress to include the self-employed in the program as part of a sweeping revision in the whole social security structure.

2-PART PROGRAM

The President's program was presented in two parts. One called for liberalizing benefits, extending coverage and adding disability insurance to the existing old-age retirement and survivors insurance.

The other recommended broadening the system of federal grants to the states to help state programs for all needy persons, regardless of age.

The Ways and Means committee begin hearings on Mr. Truman's proposals Monday.

In Philadelphia, meanwhile, Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., said that, if enacted, the President's program would mean a "complete welfare state." He said it would go far toward establishing in this country Great Britain's "Beveridge plan of government subsidy from the cradle to the grave."

Aged Man Hangs Self

Clinton M. Burns, 77-year-old retired molder was found dead in the attic of his home in Rome shortly after noon yesterday. Coroner D. C. Lavender said the aged man had taken his own life by hanging.

The body was discovered by Dewey Hammond, Bloomingrove township trustee, who called at the Burns home. Burns, who lived alone, was believed to have died early Monday morning, according to Dr. Lavender.

Rome is approximately nine miles north of Mansfield.

Born in Rome on April 25, 1871, Mr. Burns is survived by one brother, Victor, of Barberton; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Craig of Ashland; four step-children and several nieces and nephews. His wife, Hattie died four years ago.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at the McQuate funeral home in Shiloh. Rev. C. S. Gladfelter, pastor of the Shiloh Lutheran church, will officiate and burial will be in Rome cemetery.

BICYCLE MISSING

Raymond Cornell, 326 West Fifth street, reported to police yesterday that his blue and bronze bike, valued at $20, was stolen from in front of the YMCA. Cornell said he parked the bike at 2 p. m. and it was missing when he returned at 4:30 p. m.

Clubs Give Audiometers

Present 2 Devices To City, County

The Mansfield Co-Operative club and representatives of the Exchange club presented two audiometers to the Mansfield-Richland county health department last night at the Co-Operative club's meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

One of the electronic "hearing testers" was purchased by each club at a cost of $290.

Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, accepted the devices for the department.

Use of the scientific hearing testers will be directed by the hearing conservation committee, composed of city-county health officials, school officials, representatives of the P-TA and the medical profession, and delegates from the Exchange and Co-Operative clubs.

The audiometers probably will be used first in the third grades of both city and county schools, said Dr. Wain.

Lt. D. W. Unkle of the State Highway patol, gave the Co-Operative club some inside information on the operation of the patrol at the club's regular meeting following the presentation.

Lt. Unkle is commander of the patrol's District B, which has its headquarters in Massillon.

Lt. Unkle told how the patrol started in 1933 with 60 men who had been trained at the army's Camp Perry, and how the group has grown until it now boasts 328 patrolmen.

The patrol's jurisdiction has increased since then and the patrolmen now have police powers over all traffic violations regardless of where they occur, he said.

19 Children Given Prizes for Jingles

Nineteen children were presented awards as first and second prize winners in the dental health jingle contest at a meeting of the P-TA council last night at John Simpson junior high school.

Nine first prizes of $1 each and 10 second prizes of 50 cents each were presented by Mrs. W. C. Fort, chairman of the dental health clinic educational committee which sponsored the contest, and Dr. W. E. Baird, representative of the Mansfield Dental society on the educational committee.

The awards went to the writers of the best jingles in each of the first nine grades.

Mrs. Keith Weigel president of the Ohio Congress of Parent Teachers, from Cleveland, was the guest speaker at last night's Founder's Day program. Her topic was "Looking Backward and Forward In Ohio and National P-TA Work."

Mrs. C. H. Rupert reported that auto driving classes would be put into effect at Senior high school next September.

Mrs. E. G. Pankow, president of council, presented corsages to the six past presidents and the guest speaker. Past presidents include Mrs. J. B. Weigel, Mrs. F. D. Boals, Mrs. Milo Hieber, Mrs. K. E. Buhr, Mrs. C. J. Kalstein and Mrs. P. M. Stahl.

Little Theater Play Thrills 1,000 Teen-agers

By NITA BRANSON

One thousand Mansfield teen-agers sat breathless with suspense or screamed in excitement as the weird, diabolical plot of "A Murder Has Been Arranged" unfolded on the stage of the John Simpson auditorium last night.

It was the Little Theater's third production here and, according to spectators, the best of the three. The small cast did outstanding work. Each of the nine players was experienced, most of them having been in the initial production, "Ladies of the Jury."

The story deals with the 40th birthday party of Sir Charles Jasper, played by Harold Loesch, who, because of a whim, decided to have the party on the "haunted" stage of the St. James theater in London. The plot revolves around the fact that Sir Jasper is to inherit two million pounds at 11 p. m. on his birthday. That is the excuse for the appearance of Sir Jasper's rascally nephew, Maurice Mullins, played by Harry Lytle, who plans to murder his uncle and fall heir to the fortune.

It is one of Emlyn Williams' best plays and approaches his "Night Must Fall," the well-known movie thriller.

Although the first act lagged a little last night as cast members got the "feel" of their parts, action speeded up considerably in the second act and reached a spine-chilling climax in the third.

WEIRD SCENES

There are plenty of weird, exciting scenes in the play and they were handled well. Miss Beverly Wentz, as the woman who floats across the stage in black and floats out again with equal mystery, brought some shrieking gasps from the excited youngsters. The appearance of Sir Jasper's ghost caused equal excitement.

One of the best characterizations was that of Mrs. Mabel Ward, who took the part of Mrs. Wragg, the maid. She lent the role humor as well as good acting.

Others in the cast were Miss Marilyn Skeese as Sir Jasper's wife; Marjorie Davidson as Miss Groze, the secretary; Mrs. Eunice Neff, who played the part of Mrs. Arthur, Lady Jasper's mother; A. Lemoine Derr, who was a "natural" in the part of Cavendish, the orchestra leader, and Darrell Nichols as Jimmy North, the young man in love with Lady Jasper, who poses as a reporter.

Special intermission acts had been arranged for the entertainment of the youngsters last night. Mrs. Helen Arehart gave an accordion solo between the first and second acts and the "Humdinger Quartet," including Ralph Hughes, A. W. VanAuker, Russell Moore and John Whitcomb, sang between the second and third acts.

Although Paul Burgener's orchestra was there to lend color and presumably had been engaged to play for the party, the dance never quite came off, owing to the unfolding of the murder plot. Maurice W. Stretch was at the piano.

"A Murder Has Been Arranged" will be presented to adults tonight and tomorrow night in Simpson auditorium. Tickets may still be obtained at the box office.

The Oldest People In the World Today Are the Youngest People

SOMETIME, somewhere, an oak tree is going to decide to grow back into an acorn again.

It's going to do it just for the heck of it—just for fun It's going to do it just because it suddenly decided there's more pleasure in growing young than there is in growing up.

And there is.

Trying to grow younger gracefully has been a lifelong hobby with me. At least it has been ever since I discovered the prime curse of civilization it is tends to make people old before their time. But why should anybody ever grow old inside?

The oldest people today are the young people. They are a sad people, too, in a way that only old young people can be sad.

This has been impressed upon me anew by a weekend attendance at the Georgia Press institute here, home of the University of Georgia. I felt a curious kinship with the students here, because meeting and talking to them brought back memories of a time when I was as elderly and troubled in spirit as they are.

I survived those bitter days—my own four year sentence to college life—and I think they will, too. And years and years later, they will suddenly find themselves younger and happier.

Growing up is an awful troubling experience. I don't know why people go through with it. Because once you are grown up, you realize immediately that the only thing to do is to try to grow back the other way again. That is, to grow young and smart and fresh of mind again

What are the real advantages of growing up? If just growing up taught a man or woman to be tolerant, gentle, kind or modest, it would be a wonderful thing. If growing up made a man or woman more selfless and anxious to serve his kind or fashion the world into a fairer garden, it would be a fine thing, too.

That is really growing up. But that kind of growing up usually is measured by suffering or loss rather than the number of candles on a birthday cake. The agony of an instant often adds more statue to the soul than the petty frictions of many years. People generally grow up—or fall apart—after they learn they are going to have to do without, forever, something or some one that meant almost as much to them as breath. Otherwise growing up is pretty much an undignified catalogue of minor physical changes—all bad.

You bulge out where you used to bend in. The barber spends less and less time cutting the hair on your head. He spends more and more time weeding it out of your ears. You have fewer dreams—but you walk in your sleep more in the day time.

But today, in these odd times, only little children and very old people are wise enough to be young. The children haven't learned hypocrisy, and the old people—well, they don't need it any more.

Gimbels Get Honor Citizen Pins

Honored for Work At Friendly House

Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Gimbel were named Mansfield's "Honor Citizens" of the month last night for their work with children at the Friendly House.

The Gimbels, directors of the Friendly House, were awarded the Jaycee "Citizen" pins at "The Best is Yet to Come" show in Johnny Appleseed auditorium.

The presentations were made by Elmer Hedeen, president of the Mansfield Metal Vault company. The "Honor Citizen" is chosen monthly by a committee named by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the shows.

Hedeen read letters from the Elks lodge, and Mansfield business leaders praising the Gimbels for their work on behalf of Mansfield Children.

"It gives up a great deal of satisfaction to help others," Gimbel said modestly in accepting the honor.

CROWDS SEE SHOWS

Two performances of "The Best is Yet to Come" were given last night, a full house seeing the early show and about 800 attending the late performance.

The shows are bringing back to Mansfield some of the vaudeville of a by-gone day.

Highlighting last night's show was Phil Maraquin, the "Hollywood Harlequin," who performed magic tricks, danced, and did a comedy routine.

Then there was Harris Nelson, who played three trumpets or a trumpet and an accordion at the same time, combed his hair with many combs which he pulled from all his pockets, and finally played the piano while virtually standing on his head.

Denny Beckner and his band played during the show. The other acts included Howard and Wanda Bell, acrobats, Bob and Maxine Gates, dancers; Gerry VanDyke, a yodeling cowgirl; Peyton and Raye who performed with trained dogs, and Cyril Smith, the English butler in several movies.

Lois Schnitzer, band majorette at Ashland college, was featured in an act which was made more spectacular by the use of "black lights."

Boys and girls from the county Children's home were guests at the early show. They were transported to and from the auditorium by the Mansfield Rapid, Inc. Harold Boals was Jaycee master of ceremonies at the shows.

The Mansfield Co-Operative club and representatives of the Exchange club presented two audiometers to the Mansfield-Richland county health department last night at the Co-Operative club's meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

One of the electronic "hearing testers" was purchased by each club at a cost of $290.

Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, accepted the devices for the department.

Use of the scientific hearing testers will be directed by the hearing conservation committee, composed of city-county health officials, school officials, representatives of the P-TA and the medical profession, and delegates from the Exchange and Co-Operative clubs.

The audiometers probably will be used first in the third grades of both city and county schools, said Dr. Wain.

IT'S A FINCH

The 'orange sparrow' which caused quite a bit of comment during the past month has entered the limelight again, this time with positive identification. L. S. Barr, Mansfield bird hobbyist, inspected the mounted bird and proclaimed it a female house finch or linnet. The bird is almost a pest in the fruit areas of the west, according to Barr. He believes the bird, seldom found east of Kansas, was driven here in search of food after the blizzards hit the west. For those who can pronounce it, Barr furnished the scientific name—Carpodacus Mexicanus frontalis.

Hearings Set for Monday

Senator Taft Flays Proposal

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A top-ranking member of the House Ways and Means committee predicted today that Congress will extend the government's old-age pension program to include those who own their own business.

But he said he does not believe it would be practical to have the program take in farm workers and domestic servants.

Under the present social security law, the self-employed—doctors, lawyers and those who own their own businesses—are not coveved by the old age and survivors insurance program.

President Truman early this week urged Congress to include the self-employed in the program as part of a sweeping revision in the whole social security structure.

2-PART PROGRAM

The President's program was presented in two parts. One called for liberalizing benefits, extending coverage and adding disability insurance to the existing old-age retirement and survivors insurance.

The other recommended broadening the system of federal grants to the states to help state programs for all needy persons, regardless of age.

The Ways and Means committee begin hearings on Mr. Truman's proposals Monday.

In Philadelphia, meanwhile, Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., said that, if enacted, the President's program would mean a "complete welfare state." He said it would go far toward establishing in this country Great Britain's "Beveridge plan of government subsidy from the cradle to the grave."

Aged Man Hangs Self

Clinton M. Burns, 77-year-old retired molder was found dead in the attic of his home in Rome shortly after noon yesterday. Coroner D. C. Lavender said the aged man had taken his own life by hanging.

The body was discovered by Dewey Hammond, Bloomingrove township trustee, who called at the Burns home. Burns, who lived alone, was believed to have died early Monday morning, according to Dr. Lavender.

Rome is approximately nine miles north of Mansfield.

Born in Rome on April 25, 1871, Mr. Burns is survived by one brother, Victor of Barberton; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Craig of Ashland; four step-children and several nieces and nephews. His wife, Hattie died four years ago.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at the McQuate funeral home in Shiloh. Rev. C. S. Gladfelter, pastor of the Shiloh Lutheran church, will officiate and burial will be in Rome cemetery.

Little Theater Play Thrills 1,000 Teen-agers

By NITA BRANSON

One thousand Mansfield teen-agers sat breathless with suspense or screamed in excitement as the weird, diabolical plot of "A Murder Has Been Arranged" unfolded on the stage of the John Simpson auditorium last night.

It was the Little Theater's third production here and, according to spectators, the best of the three. The small cast did outstanding work. Each of the nine players was experienced, most of them having been in the initial production, "Ladies of the Jury"

The story deals with the 40th birthday party of Sir Charles Jasper, played by Harold Loesch, who, because of a whim, decided to have the party on the "haunted" stage of the St. James theater in London. The plot revolves around the fact that Sir Jasper is to inherit two million pounds at 11 p. m. on his birthday. That is the excuse for the appearance of Sir Jasper's rascally nephew, Maurice Mullins, played by Harry Lytle, who plans to murder his uncle and fall heir to the fortune.

It is one of Emlyn Williams' best plays and approaches his "Night Must Fall," the well-known movie thriller.

Although the first act lagged a little last night as cast members got the "feel" of their parts, action speeded up considerably in the second act and reached a spine-chilling climax in the third.

WEIRD SCENES

There are plenty of weird, exciting scenes in the play and they were handled well. Miss Beverly Wentz, as the woman who floats across the stage in black and floats out again with equal mystery, brought some shrieking gasps from the excited youngsters. The appearance of Sir Jasper's ghost caused equal excitement.

One of the best characterizations was that of Mrs. Mabel Ward, who took the part of Mrs. Wragg, the maid. She lent the role humor as well as good acting.

Others in the cast were Miss Marilyn Skeese as Sir Jasper's wife; Marjorie Davidson as Miss Groze, the secretary; Mrs. Eunice Neff, who played the part of Mrs Arthur, Lady Jasper's mother; A. Lemoine Derr, who was a "natural" in the part of Cavendish, the orchestra leader, and Darrell Nichols as Jimmy North, the young man in love with Lady Jasper, who poses as a reporter.

Special intermission acts had been arranged for the entertainment of the youngsters last night. Mrs. Helen Arehart gave an accordion solo between the first and second acts and the "Humdinger Quartet," including Ralph Hughes, A. W. VanAuker, Russell Moore and John Whitcomb, sang between the second and third acts.

Although Paul Burgener's orchestra was there to lend color and presumably had been engaged to play for the party, the dance never quite came off, owing to the unfolding of the murder plot. Maurice W. Stretch was at the piano.

"A Murder Has Been Arranged" will be presented to adults tonight and tomorrow night in Simpson auditorium. Tickets may still be obtained at the box office.
